LONG FLIGHT TO SAVE SOLDIER'S LIFE WAS FUTILE

The Private Died At Reed
Hospital In Capital
Early This Morn

Washington, July 14 —(UP)—Two false teeth which he swallowed at breakfast three days ago brought death today of Private O'Neil Nelson of Fort Bliss, Texas.

Nelson, a husky soldier, 30 years old, was brought to Walter Reed Hospital here yesterday after a cross-country dash in an airplane ambulance. Surgeons labored over him last night as long as his ebbing strength would permit. They were unable to remove the bridgework, only an inch and a half long. Four previous efforts at Fort Bliss had been unsuccessful.

Prongs of the bridgework had pierced Nelson's esophagus, the delicate passage to the stomach. Pressure of the obstruction, combined with throat disturbances created by admission of air through the punctures, slowly choked his life away, he died just before 7 A. M.

All the resources of the Army medical service were unable to save the Private. General R. U. Patterson, Surgeon General of the Army, joined in a consultation at his bedside. Dr. James E. Mitchell, a civilian specialist, also was called in after last night's unsuccessful operation.

Stamina Sapped
Doctors had hoped that through rest and liquid nourishment Nelson's strength could have been built up to withstand another attempt to dislodge the bridgework. But the 2300 mile cross-country flight and five operations had sapped his stamina. He grew steadily weaker through the night.

"I'm all right," Nelson said last night when he was lifted into an ambulance after the 2300 mile trip from Fort Bliss.

Nelson asked for water at once and continued to plead for it in a choking voice. But the nurses could only give him bits of ice to ease his thirst. It was feared he would gulp down the water if it were given to him and thus aggravate the condition in his throat.

In a few hours Nelson's condition grew worse. A small amount of oxygen was administered. "Open the window so we can get some air," Nelson asked shortly before he died. But the windows were already opened wide.

FALL SENTENCE CHANGED SO HE CAN BE JAILEDWarden Of New Mexican Prison Willing to Accept Prisoner

Washington, July 14—(AP)—Albert B. Fall's jail sentence of a year was changed today to a year and a day to enable him to serve his time in a western prison.

The Attorney General is expected immediately to designate the prison where the former Secretary of the Interior will serve.

The clerk of the District of Columbia Supreme Court will then send a warrant of commitment to the United States Marshal in New Mexico, or Texas, and he will take Fall to prison.

The Department of Justice has asked the Warden of the New Mexico penitentiary if Fall could serve his time there and the Warden replied that he could.

Frank Hogan, Fall's attorney, today moved before Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, that the sentence of a year in the District of Columbia jail be amended to a year and a day in a penitentiary.

Justice Bailey asked District Attorney Leo A. Rover if he had any objection to the motion and when Rover answered "no," the motion was immediately granted.

At the time of the decision Attorney General Mitchell was at a Cabinet meeting and he could not be reached immediately.

State Hospitals
To Get Sprinklers

Springfield, Ill., July 14 —(UP)—Plans for the installation of sprinkling systems in state institutions where their absence is endangering the lives of inmates will be discussed here this week at conferences to be held by Rodney H. Brandon, Director of the State Department of Public Welfare, with contractors.

The recent session of the Illinois General Assembly appropriated $500,000 to the Department to be expended in the installation of the sprinkler systems.

At the present time the only state institution equipped with the sprinkling system is the Soldiers' Widows' Home at Wilmington.

For every 100 marriages in the United States in 1929 there were 16 divorces.

AND THEN WHAT?

Chicago, July 14—(AP)—The periscope hat seems to be on its way here.

Sponsors of the second International Patent Exposition to be held in Chicago starting September 14 said that among the devices to be shown was a periscope designed to fit a man's hat, enabling him to see a bandit, should he sneak up behind him.

A BIRD OF A BIRD
Fort Monmouth, N. J., July 14—(AP)—"Florence Nightingale" homing pigeon feared lost since its release June 20 at Lookout Mountain, Tenn., was back in its loft at the Army Signal Corps camp today, with three gunshot wounds and most of its wing feathers gone.

Thomas Ross, pigeon expert at the camp, said he believed the bird had walked at least half the way home as its condition prevented it from flying higher than tree tops and only a short distance at a time.

MEBBE SO! MEBBE SO!
New York, July 14—(AP)—Zoological experts here were inclined to smile at the story from Rhodesia of the rancher who held a lion by the tongue until a companion shot the beast, but they wouldn't go so far as to say it was impossible.

Dr. William Reid Blair, pathologist at the Bronx Zoo, said a lion's tongue afforded but little grasping surface and that little was very slippery.

"The story from Rhodesia sounds just about as slippery as a lion's tongue," he said, "but I wouldn't say flatly that it couldn't be true."

WITHOUT PRECEDENT
Chicago, July 14 —(UP)—Officers at the precinct police station in Scarface Al Capone's neighborhood have found out after three years what to do in case a truck load of Capone beer is seized.

One was captured last night. It was the first time such a thing had happened since the station was opened in 1928. Sgt. John Coughlin, new to the district, was responsible. He not only seized the truck, but captured its two drivers and took them to the station, along with the truck. Much confusion resulted.

While the load of 21 barrels stood parked in front of the station and drew quite a crowd, officers looked through their files for a precedent. None could be found.

Sgt. Coughlin, having created the problem, also solved it.

"Why not call the Federal men?" he suggested.

The government men said they would be glad to help so came and took the truck away.

Mother Of Rudy
Vallee Near Death

Westbrook, Me., July 14 —(UP)—Though heartened by the presence of her son, Rudy Vallee's invalid mother was slowly sinking this noon with death expected hourly.

The 61-year-old patient, Mrs. Katherine L. Vallee, had not rallied from a relapse suffered during the night.

Mrs. Vallee is suffering from a heart ailment and high blood pressure.

The popular radio crooner, who flew here from New York with his younger brother, William, yesterday, spent most of the night sitting on the edge of a cot which had been placed beside his mother's bed.

"For about 40 minutes after the boys arrived last night," Dr. Albert D'Arche said, "Mrs. Vallee seemed brighter than at any time since last Thursday."

BABY FATALY BURNED

Petersburg, Ill., July 14 —(UP)—Edna Mae Bower, 3, was fatally burned at her home here last night when her dress became ignited while she was playing with matches.

More than 3,000 miles of roads will be constructed in Missouri during 1931, the highway commission has announced.

CHICAGO YOUTH, RESCUING GIRL FROM DROWNING, IS SURPRISED TO DISCOVER HE HAS SAVED COUPLE

Stanton, Ill., July 14—(UP)—After battling his way to shallow water with a drowning girl in his arms, Fred Mizerny, 18, Chicago, found that he had saved the lives of two girls. The second girl had clung to the arm of her friend and was pulled to safety. Mizerny rescued the two girls from a lake near here yesterday afternoon.

The girls were Anna Krechynak, 16, and Geneva Blaskowski, 12. Neither could swim and when the younger girl got into deep water she sank below the surface and Anna went to her rescue. Both girls were

MOTORISTS WHO VIOLATE LAWS
TO FACE COURT

State And City Police
Engage In Active
Drive On Them

Violators of the state motor vehicle laws are the objectives of concerted drive by state highway and city police, and three arrests and fines in this locality yesterday are reported by State Highway Officer Kenneth Church of this city. Charles Beck of Polo, and Joseph McInay of Brookville, paid fines of $10 in the court of Justice Brand of that city for reckless driving and speeding within the Polo city limits, and Edwin Bellows of Polo paid a similar amount to Justice J. O. Shaull of Dixon for failing to stop before entering a state highway south of Waukegan.

City Police Active.
Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber announced today, an intensive drive against all motor violations within the city. Three major violations of both the state law and the city ordinances will be rigidly enforced at once, Chief Van Bibber declared in announcing his order to the patrolmen.

The drive against muffler cut-outs is to be continued, speeding on the streets of the city is an offense which has been closely observed during the past week and several offenders have been arrested and fined. The third offense which today was included in the enforcement order, is the operation of automobiles with but one headlight or without tail lights.

Three offenders appeared before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson last evening and paid fines. John Gail and Woody Thompson were assessed fines of $5 and costs each on speeding charges, and William Maloney paid a fine of $3 and costs on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Dave Collins.

Mayor Of Seattle
Recalled By Vote

Seattle, July 14 —(AP)—Seattle's "business man mayor," Frank Edwards, was voted out of office by a decisive majority in a recall election here yesterday.

Appearing as a "dark horse" in 1928, Edwards was chosen to succeed Mrs. Bertha K. Landes. The recall election, which Edwards and his supporters strenuously tried to forestall, grew out of incompetency charges made against the mayor after he had dismissed J. D. Ross as head of the city light department.

The unofficial returns showed 35,637 for the recall and 21,836 against. Under the law, the city council must choose a successor to Edwards within twenty days.

With President Robert Harlin of the city council in charge of the city's affairs pending selection of Edwards' successor by the council, the reinstatement of Ross, and reorganization of the board of public works were expected in the near future.

Heat Stroke Fatal
To Mt. Morris Man

John H. Rice, aged 71, retired Mt. Morris banker, passed away at the Dixon public hospital last evening, his death resulting indirectly from his being overcome by the heat while working in his garden two weeks ago, following which he was brought to the local institution.

He was an officer of the Citizens State bank at Mt. Morris for twenty years, and retired fifteen years ago, his cousin, the late J. L. Rice taking over the active management of the bank.

He was born in Leaf River. He was married to Miss Maude Rohrer twenty years ago. Besides the widow, he leaves one sister, Miss Nina Rice.

FOUND DEAD ON ROAD

Chillicothe, Ill., July 14(UP)—A thorough investigation today disclosed the death of William Stum, 70-year-old retired farmer, whose body was found on a road four miles west of here. A broken shoulder and a cut on the head indicated, they said, that Stum had been struck by an automobile. His mule and buggy, undamaged, were standing nearby with the carriage lodged against a telegraph pole.

IN DISTRESS WHEN HIS CRIES BROUGHT MIZERNY TO THE SCENE.

Mizerny plunged, fully clothed, into the water and grabbed the up-lifted hand of one of the girls. He then swam back to shallow water pulling the girl behind him. Gaining a foothold on the shallow beach he turned around to find two girls instead of one.

Both girls were unconscious when rescued but restorative measures revived them. The younger girl is believed to have grabbed her friend's arm when she was going down and despite the fact that she was unconscious continued to hold her grip.

TOWNSHIP CARE OF POOR TALKED
IN COUNTY BOARD

Supervisors May Make An Appeal To Governor
To Postpone Law

The Lee county board of supervisors in special meeting today at the court house, will probably address an appeal to Governor Louis L. Emerson, seeking to have action deferred on the new pauper bill, which became a law on July 1. The new law places upon the townships the task of providing for paupers, who formerly were cared for out of the county funds.

Dixon and Amboy townships, by reason of being the largest populated in the county, are the hardest hit by the new law. Other northern Illinois counties are also considering taking some action in the form of an appeal to Governor Emerson to have the law set aside or some changes made which will make possible the levying of a tax to take care of the increased responsibility. It is expected that the Lee county board will ask Governor Emerson to delay the effectiveness of the new law until at least July 1, 1932.

The county board convened in special session this morning at 9 o'clock to select grand jurors for the September term of court and petit jurors for the ensuing year. The decision of the Supreme Court rendering invalid the act providing for service of women on juries last spring, necessitated the special session of the board to await final action and the selection of new panels in the circuit court.

Only routine business was transacted at a short session this morning, the board adjourning until this afternoon to complete its work.

FATHER OF SGT.
KEMPSTER SHOT
BY OWN WEAPON

P. W. Kempster, Aged
67, Accidentally Slain
Monday Afternoon

P. W. Kempster, aged 67, Prophetstown automobile dealer and father of Sgt. Oliver Kempster of the State Highway Police, is dead at his home in Prophetstown, the result of a gunshot wound, found by the coroner's jury to have been inflicted Monday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock at the garage of his home.

Mr. Kempster and his son, C. C. Kempster, Peoria, had been inspecting the Kempster farm this afternoon and returned at 2:30 P. M. Mr. and Mrs. Kempster had planned to return with their son and daughter-in-law to Peoria, and Mr. Kempster had taken his suit case in which his gun was contained to the garage shortly before 3 o'clock.

A few minutes later, members of the family heard the report of the gun, and found the veteran automobile salesman fatally wounded on the floor of the garage.

Mr. Kempster was in the automobile business in Sterling until 1924 when he moved to Prophetstown. He leaves a widow, and three sons, Oliver, Sterling; C. C., Peoria; and Arnett, Sterling.

Presidential Possibilities In 1932 Reviewed

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington, July 14 —(UP)—Complications in the Democratic presidential situation today are ascribed partly to the silence of former Governor Alfred E. Smith.
Friends of Franklin D. Roosevelt believe his nomination would be certain if Smith should indicate his endorsement. Roosevelt's highest hurdles are in quarters where Smith is powerful. Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and even a portion of New York's strength are available in large measure for Smith should he choose to run. A lesser portion of it would be thrown to any candidate indicated by Smith.
Though Roosevelt placed Smith in nomination in 1920, 1924 and 1928 and was persuaded by Smith to run for Governor to help the ticket in 1928, the impression in most political circles is that a coolness has grown up between them.
Whether it will reach the point of turning Smith against his old political associate is the big uncertainty which hangs with decisive possibilities over the Democratic situation.
Another situation concerns Roosevelt's physical condition. Considerations of sympathy have kept this subject largely out of print, just as the religious issue was infrequently mentioned early in Smith's 1928 campaign. But both are important because of the weight which number of voters, rightly or otherwise give to them. It should not matter how Smith pronounces "radio," but every politician knows that it actually did matter a great deal in 1928.
Roosevelt's fight against the infantile paralysis which struck him down in 1921 at the height of vigorous manhood is one of the epic of personal heroism among political figures. For months he was unable to walk. Paralysis affected him from the waist down. By 1924, however, he was in a wheelchair and at the Madison Square Garden convention he was able to appear before the convention to make the nominating speech for Smith. By 1928 Roosevelt was in such good condition that though compelled to wear steel braces on his legs, he attended the Houston convention, again placing Smith in nomination, and was active on his feet, though requiring some assistance at times.
Roosevelt then was nominated for Governor of New York. He conducted an active campaign. Since election he has toured every corner of the state and made many other trips. In the last few months he has appeared before Governors' conferences at Salt Lake City, Utah, and French Lick, Ind., at the University of Virginia Institute of Politics, and has made a flying trip to Europe because of his mother's illness.
If there is any feeling on the part of voters that impediment in a man's locomotion disqualifies him for high office, Roosevelt has been at pains not to conceal his condition from them. On the contrary he has travelled so extensively as to refute any insinuations that his difficulty is anything more serious than a mechanical impediment. He says that physically he is younger than his 49 years because he has been compelled to take good care of himself in the last few years.
When Smith wanted him to run for Governor and some question was raised as to Roosevelt's difficulty in locomotion, Smith retorted caustically, "What do you want for a Governor, an arab?"
Roosevelt probably has travelled more miles and met more persons in the last year than President Hoover. He still wears steel braces but otherwise shows no signs of physical difficulty.
One more major fact in Roosevelt's situation concerns the prohibition issue. He is committed against the 18th amendment just as definitely as other anti-prohibition Democrats. However, he was opposed to making it an issue in the meeting of the Democratic National Committee last spring. Economic issues appear to be regarded by Roosevelt as more pressing at the moment. He does not seem to arouse the same opposition in the south that other anti-prohibition Democrats do. In Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia and other southern states Roosevelt has support among the party leaders despite his anti-prohibition views. It is a factor which adds tremendously to his big strength because it increases his availability as a bridge over which northern anti-prohibitionists and southern drys may unite.

ROCK RIVER BIBLE CONFERENCE

REV. AND MRS. L. J. KINDIG

Musicians who are doing wonderful work at the Rock River Bible Conference, especially among the children.

Very happily Rev. James W. Gillette of Auburn Illinois was present and ready to take the devotion for Monday morning at 10:30. Not a great number are required to insure power and fervor in a meeting of devotion. Very often numbers hinder rather than help. It was Monday morning and the meeting was helpful and blessed of God.
As had been announced Dr. Bell of Toledo, Ohio was on the grounds and prepared for his lecture as scheduled for 2:00 P. M. The people began to gather and a fine number were present at the early afternoon hour. After a few pleasant opening and introductory remarks he began his work in the Conference by taking the Book of Philippians for his first lecture. The following is a brief outline of the book: Written by Paul from Rome about 62 A. D., and known as his Joy Letter to the Philippians Church.
I. Joy in Prayer, Chapter 1, 1-11.
II. Joy in Persecution, Chapter 1, 12-30.
III. Joy in Patterning Christ, Chapter 2, 1-11.
IV. Joy in Prospect, Chapter 2, 12-30.
V. Joy in Profit or Loss, Chapter 3, 1-21.
VI. Joy in Poverty or Plenty, Chapter 4, 1-23.
It is a delight and a profit to follow the lucid explanations of Dr. Bell. He has a thorough grasp of his subject which inspires confidence. He speaks every morning at 10:30 o'clock.
Dr. Dean at 3 o'clock took the hour very profitably in giving some outlines of the book of Revelations. It is the unveiling of Jesus Christ and the book of great comfort.
However, it was in the evening at 7:30 that Dr. Dean was at his best. The ball to turn the trick. He proved himself to be a gamster when he sank that 12-foot putt over a drenched green Saturday for a birdie three and a tie. And remember, this putt would have been useless had he not spun the last nine in 32, four under par, to overtake a three-stroke lead piled up by Hagen.
The gallery won't have any great trouble distinguishing between the two men. They look like anything but brothers. Hagen is stocky, blustering, coal-black hair sleeked down like a gigolet, and with a complexion resembling nothing so much as Sitting Bull. Allis is reserved, rather thin, and pale of face, when compared to Walter's Indian tan.
William Tatem Tilden, like Tennyson's brook, "Of Man River, Zara Agha, and Fanny Ward, apparently is going on forever. Fair, not fat, but bearing forty—an age when most business men are getting that tired feeling and take their exercise at the Polles—Tilden is playing some of the best tennis of his life.
Tilden's victory over Vinnie Richards, ten years his junior, in the finals of the professional championship was probably his most remarkable triumph. Not only did he make shots that he never made before: he life the court after the match as fresh as the proverbial daisy and ready for more.
Things we can't understand department. Why six American League clubs refused Walter Hoyt when the singing mormon was waived by the Detroit Tigers. Waite has pitched twice for the Philadelphia Athletics and won twice. Unless our arithmetic is up to some tom-foolery, two out of two is almost perfect.

UNCLE SAM HAS BEGUN TO BRING NAVY UP TO SIZE Will Ask Bids Tomorrow On Eleven Destroyers Of New Type

Washington, July 14 —(UP)—As a step toward building up to the London treaty strength, the Navy is about to begin the job of replacing some of its destroyers built in the days of the dreaded U-Boat activities.
The eleven on which the department plans to advertise for construction bids tomorrow will be a move in this direction. Secretary Adams indicated he may ask the new Congress to provide money for more of this type.
In this small but important type of fighting ship, the United States at present is over the 150,000 tonnage specified by the London treaty for December 31, 1936. Scrapping on account of age, however will pull the total well below by that date and necessitate replacements.
At present the Navy has 219 destroyers, most of which are under 1200 tons as compared with 1500 tons for the 11 which are to be built.
No vessel of this class has been laid down since the war and Secretary Adams probably had special reference to the destroyer fleet when he remarked that construction in the Navy since the London conference had not kept pace with depreciation.
Building Submarines
In the submarine class such extensive replacements are not expected to be necessary to keep up to the 62,700 tonnage specified for the end of 1936. Six large fleet submarines of the V type have been commissioned and three more are building.
As for cruisers, the United States is well on its way to the treaty maximum in the eight-inch gun, 10,000-ton class while considerable leeway for the construction of six-inch gun ships remain.
Completion of the seven eight-inch gun cruisers now under construction will make a total of 15. Three more can be started, one each in 1933, 1934 and 1935, to reach the 18 allowed under the treaty. These already have been authorized although the money has not been appropriated.
The United States now has ten 7,500-ton six-inch gun cruisers and is entitled to about ten more of the same size.
In aircraft carrier tonnage this country is below the maximum of 13,900 tons. Three carriers afloat and the one now building, the Ranger, together total only 91,000 tons. Three more nearly the size of the Ranger, which is 13,900 tons, thus could be constructed.
In the remaining category—battleships—the United States does not have to worry about new construction as it already has the 15 allowed under the London treaty.

Another American Held By Chinese
Peiping, China, July 14 —(UP)—The United States Legation today was informed that bandits had captured another American missionary, Lacey Sites, in southern China.
The Legation advances said Sites, a Methodist, had been captured near Luang-Ling-Tsun, Fukien province, on July 8, while travelling in the interior.
The bandits held him for ransom.

PAYMENTS MADE WORLD BANK GO BACK AS LOANS

be answered was how would millions of Germans—particularly the left and right radical elements—react to the President's drastic step to halt the threatened nation-wide run on the banks, started by the failure of the Darmstadter und National Bank.
President Von Hindenburg did not take advantage of his dictatorial powers until dispatches from the provinces, especially from the Rhineland, indicated that civic authorities already had been forced by heavy runs to close municipal savings banks temporarily. Berlin was quieter, but a hundred police guarded the Central Municipal Savings Bank as it paid out heavy deposits to thousands.
Jobless Stage Riots
Riots of jobless in Essen and Duisburg against the reduction in the unemployment dole, which unfortunately went into effect on the day of the Danat bank's suspension, were not reassuring. Nor was the news from Frankfurt-am-Main that the latest attempt to show "all quiet on the western front" had been marked by the hurling of a hand grenade in an empty theater lobby.
Radio broadcasters worked overtime in urging the public to keep its nerve, not to surrender to panic and to remember that Germany was basically sound. There was no inclination in government circles to exaggerate the peril of a panicky people yet the cabinet in a night-long meeting was concerned as much with the internal situation as with the possibility of help from abroad.
Nevertheless, the news from Basel that the directors of the Bank for International Settlements had urged assistance for Germany brought a ray of optimism which was not magnified in press comment, most of which reflected a wide-spread feeling that it was too late to get excited over the promise of future relief.
Yet, several papers viewed what was generally regarded as the blackest financial situation in years with almost philosophical detachment.

NEW HEALTH AGAIN

"As a stomach medicine Ten Herbs can't be equaled, said Mr. C. L. Johnson, 319 S. Fifth St., DeKalb. "I was so bothered with indigestion for the past eighteen years. I often had terrible distress after eating. Gas would cause a bloated, heavy feeling and sharp pains. Sometimes my food would disagree with me causing vomiting. I was constipated and often had to take physics. My liver was sluggish and I had sharp pains across my kidneys.
"I was advised to try Ten Herbs and it gave me wonderful help. My appetite is so much improved that I can eat everything before me and still feel hungry. The gas pains in my stomach have been relieved. My bowels, liver and kidneys are in better condition and your wonderful herb medicine has made me feel better and sleep better. Ten Herbs seemed to fit my case perfectly and I will give it a vigorous recommendation."
Ten Herbs is sold at Sterling's Pharmacy, 106 Galea Ave., Dixon, where the merits of this great medicine are being explained to the public—Adv.

V. K. Ntrindoffov, Assistant Commander of Aviation was reported among the dead. The bodies were ordered to Moscow where they will be buried with the highest military honors.

BAYLOR SUMMER STUDENTS GET CREDIT FOR PUZZLES

Waco, Texas—(UP)—Several students at Baylor University here are spending much of their time working puzzles in classes this summer—and getting college credit for their efforts.
Other students refer to the course as a "freak" but Baylor professors have spent about $500 gathering up trick puzzles for students in experimental education.
Laboratory work includes working puzzles watching how many times a person's eye travels across a printed page, drawing pictures while the student watches his hand move in a mirror, and other things unheard of in education a generation ago.
The laboratories resemble more a child's nursery than a class room, but the collegians like the course.

WO-He-Lo Club Met Thursday Afternoon

On Thursday afternoon, July 9, the WO-He-Lo 4-H club was entertained at the home of Bernice Yenrich. The meeting was opened at 2 o'clock by the president. Roll call was answered. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A short business session followed.

The program consisted of: "Health Talk by Helen Travis on 'Hygiene of the Feet,' an interesting demonstration by Bernice Yenrich and Lois Donner on 'The Care of the Feet.'"

Following the program the leader judged the girls' garments and found that all the undergarments were completed and many of the dresses were near completion.

The hostess and her mother served most tempting refreshments. It being the birthday of one of the members, Mrs. Yenrich had baked a delicious Angel Food cake, which was enjoyed by all. Instead of the usual recreation period a social hour of chatting and music was enjoyed.

The girls then returned to their homes having enjoyed a most interesting and profitable time.

Luncheon Honored Miss Lalan Dennis

Monday Miss Ruth Dana entertained with a delightful bridge luncheon at the Sunset Tea Room in Grand Detour, honoring her friend, Miss Lalan Dennis of Wabash, Ind. There were guests for three tables of bridge which was the diversion after the daintily appointed luncheon had been served. Summer garden flowers were the decorations.

Miss Dennis won the favor for high honors and she also received a guest favor. Miss Martha Jean Stephenson received the favor for second honors. Out of town guests beside Miss Dennis, the honoree, were Mrs. W. Martin Dillon of Knightstown, Ind., a bride of a few weeks, formerly Miss Helene Reynolds; and Mrs. C. M. Good of Peoria, sister of Miss Dana.

Truth Seekers Class Enjoy Picnic Supper

The Truthseekers class of Bethel U. E. church spent a lovely evening at the home of Mrs. Vincent Prescott. There were thirty-nine present and the picnic supper just "hit the spot" with the lovely chicken, noodles, mashed potatoes and gravy which Mrs. Prescott had prepared. After the supper a short business session was held and plans discussed for the coming months after which followed a social time of games and fun for all. Members who were not present missed a good time.

To The Truthseekers Class T is for the Truth for which we should seek, making our lives pure, humble, and meek.

R is for the Bible reading for which we should yearn.

U is for the Usefulness all try to learn.

T is for the Testimony by which each one grows.

H is for the Happiness giving bestows.

S is for the Service in which we delight.

E is for the Earnestness to lead others aright.

E is for the Effort we make to attend.

K is for the Kindness to others we send.

E is for the Enthusiasm we put in our work.

R is for the Responsibility we never must shirk.

S is for the Sacrifice that we should all make.

By giving our lives, and our service for Christ's sake.

W. M. S. of Nachusa Meeting on Friday

The Women's Missionary Society of Nachusa was entertained in the church basement on Friday afternoon, July 10th, with Mrs. Fannie Wolf, Mrs. Edward Shippert and Miss Mary Sutton as hostesses.

A short devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Wesley Hockman, which was followed by the lesson study on the topic: Africa Today, led by Mrs. August Kohl. After a number of interesting articles on the different phases of our work in this field the lesson period closed with prayer.

The president then had charge of the business session and the usual business of the society was conducted.

An enjoyable social time followed when the hostesses served most tempting refreshments, the tables being lovely with garden flowers. This closed a most profitable and pleasant afternoon.

Tennessee Picnic Drew Large Crowd At Rochelle Sunday

Between three and four hundred people met at Rochelle last Sunday for the seventh annual Tennessee picnic. The old fashioned basket dinner was all that could be desired and the program was quite a unique one.

Prayer was offered by Rev. R. E. Chandler of Oregon. The address of Welcome was made by Rev. Frank A. Campbell of Rochelle, and was responded to by Dr. E. C. Davis, President of Mt. Morris College. The principal address was given by Rev. E. B. Landis of Mendota who fluently outlined Tennessee's contributions to history and some of the changes taking place there at the present time. An interesting feature of the program were a few remarks by Tommy Whitlow, a colored Tennesseean living near Oregon.

The music was especially appreciated and was brought by Mr. Marvin Harrison, vocalist and singer of mountain ballads. Roy Black of Poplar Grove, guitar player, and Doak Carter of Roscoe who played the accordion and mouth harp at the same time.

J. S. Rodeffer of Mt. Morris presided and was re-elected president, other officers are S. N. Shepherd, Rockford, Vice President and I. D. Rodeffer of Mt. Morris is Secretary and Treasurer.

The picnic is to be held at Black Hawk Park, Rockford on the second Sunday in July next year. Mr. Sanders of Rockford is chairman of the local committee, for next year.

Simms Guests Mrs. McCormick, Byron Estate

Chicago, July 14—(UP)—New rumors that Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and former Congressman Albert Gallatin Simms of New Mexico were planning to be married were heard today after Simms came to Illinois from Albuquerque to visit the former Congresswoman at her Byron estate.

Mrs. McCormick, the widow of the late Senator Medill McCormick, sat next to the handsome Simms when they served together in the House of Representatives.

Many rumors have been heard since then that there was a romance. Several months ago Mrs. McCormick visited with Simms' sister in New Mexico. The rumors grew at that time, but were denied.

Simms was met at Stretcher by Mrs. McCormick and the owner of a "earoom" where they had breakfast said Mrs. McCormick "seemed as happy as a school girl."

At her estate, last night Mrs. McCormick said she saw no reason why she could not have visitors at her estate without the public speculating as to whether the visits had any "special significance."

W. R. C. Meeting Was Held Monday Afternoon G. A. R. Hall

W. R. C. in pleasant meeting Dixon Woman's Relief Corps No. 218, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, held a most interesting meeting Monday afternoon in G. A. R. Hall.

During the business session national general orders No. 8 and 11, and Department general orders were read, announcing that the national convention of the Woman's Relief Corps will be held at Des Moines, Ia., the week of September 13th.

Members of the Relief and Child Welfare Committees reported distributing clothing valued at $20.

Mrs. Nellie Eastman gave a splendid report of the Corps picnic held July 1st on the spacious lawn at the home of the president, Mrs. Hobbs. A most appetizing dinner was served at six o'clock and was enjoyed by 75 corps members and comrades. After dinner a happy evening in chat and reminiscence was enjoyed by all present.

It was with pleasure the officers accepted Mrs. Hobbs' invitation, to hold their picnic at her home, Friday July 24th. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock.

The charter was draped in loving memory of Mrs. Mary L. Gilman, Past National President.

Beauty Hint Is Given As Proof Of Outdoor Age

Washington—If a certain beauty hint hinted recently by the woman's page of a metropolitan daily should impress the ladies as it apparently did the American Game Association's w/d life editor (who failed to explain why he was looking at a woman's page), a strange and wondrous sight might be seen over the wide and auto-lined expanse of vacationing areas this summer.

"Instead of running for shelter the next time a soft patter of rain descends," the complexion expert is quoted as saying, "don old clothes and go for a hike, turning your face up to the heavens, letting the gentle dropping of rain act as a beauty permanent. Snow falling on the face also stimulates circulation and so brings a surge of clean, new blood to the skin surface, improving the complexion wonderfully."

The game association presented this as the final conclusive and devastating proof that America is entering an outdoor age. People are leaving pills and nostrums behind and turning back to nature for good health and periods of relaxation from artificial life, as proved by an increasing number of hunters and fishermen, tourists, campers, and fans and players of all outdoor sports. Who knows but what the next adventure in reversion may not be a view of up to date females "singing in the rain" for their complexions?

PERSONAL JOURNALISM.

The decline of "personal journalism" is a phenomenon that students of American newspapers have repeatedly commented on in recent years. In the old days a newspaper would jump into a political campaign with all four feet, calling its opponents all kinds of infamous scoundrels. Today it is usually much more urbane, ready to admit that the man it is opposing may have at least one or two redeeming qualities in private life.

But personal journalism is not entirely extinct. A prominent Mississippi daily recently proved it by carrying a front page editorial assailing a gubernatorial candidate as "a malicious liar" and declaring, in describing one of his political rallies, that "not even his ancient jokes or cheap witticisms could evoke a smile from his audience."

Judged by the standards of half a century ago, that is very mild; but it smacks of the old days, nevertheless, and in an era of powder-puff hitters it is somehow refreshing to read.

A MISTAKEN MOVE.

Corporal punishment for convicts at the Colorado state penitentiary has been revived recently, according to a current United Press dispatch, because penitentiary officials "have become desperate due to the increasing spirit of rebellion among the convicts."

If this is the case, the prison officials seem to have lost their heads in their desperation. Trying to flog the spirit of rebellion out of a convict is an extremely risky proposition. You may succeed, if you flog hard enough; but if you fail, you have only added several gallons of oil to the flame you were trying to quench.

It might be remembered, too, that none of the prisons where riots have occurred in the last few years was ever noted as a place where trouble arose from an excess of humanity on the part of the officials. The iron hand was in force at every one of those places—and it didn't, somehow, prevent serious trouble.

TO CUT DOWN ACCIDENTS.

Marlen E. Pew, editor of the magazine Editor and Publisher, summed up the automobile accident situation very clearly in his recent speech broadcast through arrangements made by the Travelers Insurance Company.

Nothing, he asserted, but a widespread public protest against speed, recklessness, hogwashiness, weak laws, political favoritism and financial irresponsibilities will cut down the rising total of accidents. And he added:

"Reckless drivers must learn that there is sure personal punishment for violation of road laws. Killing and maiming must be made expensive; speed must be regulated by law, with enforcement which means business; state and city governments must be aroused to the peril of the people and proceed to regulate traffic with an iron hand. The inspection of vehicles must be frequent, regular and rigid, and a lot of dangerous tin junk that is now permitted to whirl along the roads at 50 miles an hour must be ruled off."

Very rarely has the matter been more ably presented.

As we understand the financial situation, most of the nations wish Germany a happy fiscal new year; while France wishes herself many happy and immediate returns.—Franklin P. Adams.

One thousand miles an hour will be safe, provided the course is a straight line, but look out for the human organism when flight is suddenly arrested or course is quickly changed.—Colonel L. M. Hathaway of the U. S. Army Air Corps.

The old age problem is looming bigger and bigger on the horizon of every civilized nation.—Albert Edward Wiggam.

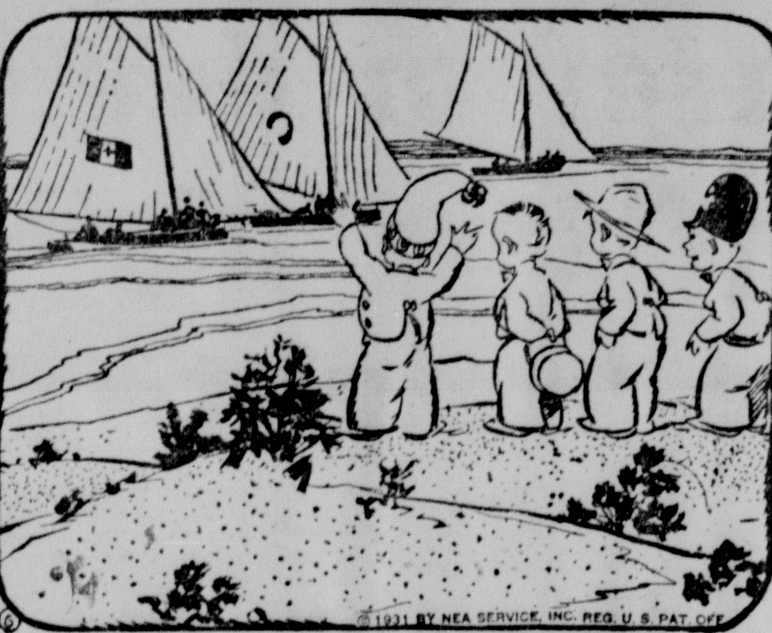

The nearer you can bring the war-making power within the control of those who must do the fighting and the dying when war comes, the more certain it will be that war will not come.—Senator Borah.

Americans do not need drink to inspire them to do anything, though they do sometimes, I think, need a little for the deeper and more delicate purpose of teaching them how to do nothing.—Gilbert K. Chesterton.

Chivalry is distinctly a masculine garment; on a woman it looks as strange and becoming as a swallow-tail coat.—Elsie McCormick.

Biography has suffered from being like club sandwiches—toast on top and underneath, with irrelevant matter in between.—Philip Guedalla.

The trouble with economists is that they read more than they think.—Henry Ford.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The pillow fight was quite a trick. The players perched upon a stick, held up by two poles in the ground. The Tynmites thought it great. As Scouty sat up on the pole, wee Cloudy said, "Well, bless my soul. This ought to be a battle swell. Gee I can hardly wait."

Each one held to his pillow tight and then somebody yelled, "All right! Start swinging with your pillows and we'll see who falls off first." Both of the Tynmites started fast. It didn't seem the fight would last so very long. The others wondered who would get the worst.

'Twas sock and slap and slap and sock. Both of the Tynmites seemed to rock as pillows landed on them after quite a healthy swing. One of the natives shouted, "Stop and rest awhile before you flop. It isn't fair to fall off. Being knocked off is the thing."

They rested for a minute. Then were at their battle once again. All of a sudden Scouty socked poor Cloudy on the chest. He fairly seemed to turn around and then he tumbled to the ground. Wee Cloudy jumped up to his feet and cried, "You are the best."

The other Tynmites didn't care to climb away up in the air and have their turn at fighting, so the pillow fight was over. The Travel Man then said, "Come, now, right down the beach we'll soon see how they staged their fine boat races. There are 50 boats or more."

And, sure enough, the Tynmites saw a sight that filled them all with awe. The little sail boats formed in line all ready for the race. Said Scouty, "Gee, I'm glad we're here. Let's all be set to give a cheer as soon as some boat pulls up to the winning finish place."

(The Tynmites see some kangaroos in the next story.)

WILLIAMS' SENATE SPEECH

On July 14, 1917, Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi delivered a speech in the United States Senate in answer to Senator Stone's assertion that "we are in the war unwisely." Extracts from the speech follow:

"The president and the administration did do everything that human intellect could conceive for the purpose, if possible, of bringing an end to the war. The president came to this chamber and made that speech which was criticized, not only abroad, but here in this chamber, as being a 'peace-at-any-price' speech—the celebrated speech in which he said we must have peace without victory."

"Now we are in it, we have got to see it through—not only to a successful issue of this war, but, while we are about it, to a just and permanent treaty which shall, as far as possible, make war cease to be a game of national athletics."

"We propose now in time of war to prepare for peace and for a just and lasting peace and we are going through with it... until we have seen it through not only to peace, but to a just and lasting peace, a righteous peace."

FACIAL NEURALGIA

There are a variety of facial pains due to many different conditions and commonly called facial neuralgia. Some are the result of disease of the teeth, ears, nose and tonsils.

True facial neuralgia, technically termed trigeminal neuralgia, or tic douloureux, is a specific disease condition involving what is known as the fifth cranial nerve.

Trigeminal neuralgia is an excruciatingly painful condition. The pains are of a flashing or shooting character described by the patient as hot needles or knives stabbed through the face.

The attacks are recurrent and each may last from one-half minute to several hours. The affliction is chronic some sufferers having had it more than 30 years.

Facial neuralgia is more common among women than among men. It develops in middle life though the very young and the aged may occasionally be affected. It usually involves but one side of the face. In a small percentage of cases, both sides are affected.

The cause of the disease is unknown. However, it may come on after a severe emotional shock, or after an injury to the jaw of the face, the result of a blow.

Painful and difficult dental extractions may be the forerunner to the development of this condition. Bad dental hygiene and pus infection in the gums, teeth and tonsils are thought to be contributing causes.

In the absence of any specific knowledge as to the cause of the disease, it is impossible to prescribe any definite method for its prevention. However, good care of teeth, gums and good oral hygiene are advisable.

In recent years, treatment of facial neuralgia has been much improved. Injection of alcohol into the roots of the nerve or in the more serious conditions an operation upon the nerve or its roots will bring relief to the sufferer.

Picking Your Job

By THOMAS D. GREEN
(President, American Hotel Association)

As Told to J. V. Fitzgerald
Of the American School of the Air
In general it may be said that the same qualities that make a successful engineer, banker or manufacturer would make a successful hotelman. In the hotel business you will need character and personality especially.

Machines will never replace human beings in rendering personal service. Robots cannot serve food or turn down beds. In the hotel, there are two distinct groups of persons—guests and employees. Harmony must exist. Consequently, a pleasing personality that enables one to get along harmoniously is a real asset.

Certain position within the hotel has specific requirements. It is essential, for example, that the room clerk have a pleasing personality, a good memory and a neat appearance.

Roughly speaking, the work is divided among six departments. These are the dining room, kitchen, steward's, engineering, housekeeping and front office departments.

Should you want to study the business as you work, there are correspondence courses. Cornell University gives two three-week resident sessions every summer. This is in addition to its regular four year course in hotel administration. Michigan State College recently announced three-day sessions in hotel work, for hotel men themselves. In New York City, Pratt Institute trains for the hotel field. In New Orleans, the Delgado Central Trades School teaches proficiency in cooking and other practical arts associated with hotel keeping and the University of Southern California offers hotel instruction.

One way to get acquainted with the business is to start in a resort hotel on the completion of the school year. The summer season will show you whether or not you like the business well enough to continue in it.

ASHTON NEWS

Ashton—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn on the Mrs. Elizabeth Meister property, rented by Clarence Ogle, local drayman. While Ogle was putting up hay and had returned for another load of hay the building caught afire and was gutted despite the prompt efforts of the fire department to extinguish it. Spontaneous combustion of the new hay is thought to have been responsible for the blaze.

Miss Elizabeth Andrus is hostess to her nephew Paul Shewmon of Stillman Valley and other relatives from New Jersey.

Miss Mabel Stanley of Dixon was a guest at the Perly Cross home on Sunday.

Hugh Wilson accompanied by Leland and Stuart Tilton were Dixon shoppers on Monday.

Many from the community will attend the home talent play given by Pine Rock Grange on Thursday evening. "Won By a Wager" is the name of the play which will be followed by a dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Alby Krug and small daughter of McHenry were guests of relatives over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dailey of Villa Park were guests at the Charles Dailey home on Sunday. Other guests at the Dailey home were Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlan of Eldena and Mr. and Mrs. Glossner of Dixon.

Ruth and Jewell Hardesty have been enjoying a visit at the Fred Hardesty home.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Sanford and daughters, Miss Ethel and Miss Mary have returned from a western trip.

The Ashton O. E. S. will hold their annual picnic at Dugdale's Grove on Thursday evening of this week at 6:15.

Thayer Heath will be host to the boys Four H. Club on Tuesday, July 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cross were hosts to relatives from Kansas City, Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cain were guests at the Alpha Bennett home on Sunday.

The boys 4-H club will be guests of Thayer Heath on July 22.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore of Rochelle and daughter, Mrs. Carl Frey and family of Moline spent the day at the home of Supervisor and Mrs. Perley Cross.

Mrs. Annie J. Hughes of Gary, Indiana with her son, his wife and baby, and Miss Florence Hughes have been guests at the R. Y. Tilton home. Mrs. Hughes is a sister of Mrs. Tilton.

Prof. and Mrs. Willis Tower of Chicago were guests of their parents, Mrs. Elijah Cooley and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Tower over the week-end.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler accompanied them to the Grove and was a guest at the E. A. Glover home.

Miss Della Mae Tilton has been ill and under the doctor's care the past two weeks and is still confined to bed.

Dugdale's grove was the scene of the annual reunion of the Cross family on Sunday. Early morning showers threatened to mar the day and no doubt did prevent many from attending for there were but 55 present. Merritt Cross of Rochelle whose 84 years set but lightly upon his shoulders was the oldest member of the family and the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worthington, Vivian, was the youngest. Among these present were those from Sterling, Rochelle, Ashton, Chana, Dixon, and Boulder Colo.

It was in the early days of 1830 to 1840 that this pioneer family settled in Washington Grove, the founders of the family being John and Sophie Hardesty Cross, who, with their good friends, the Drummonds, and the Hardesty's, came to this new country from Coshocton county, Ohio. The Cross family was one of parents and nine children, five sons, Hamilton, James, Thomas, Daniel, and Edwin, familiarly known as "Ep" to many people of the vicinity. The daughters were Mary, who married Enoch Orner; Ruth, who married Thomas Emerson; (parents of Judge Emerson); Melissa, who married Henry Emmons; and Rachel, who married Ed Orner. Of these various families there are now many descendants residing in Oregon, Dixon, Rochelle, Chana, Ashton and others are scattered in many other states.

The Southern Pacific railroad places all available Pullmans on sidetracks near Reno on week-ends, to lodge overnight tourists.

The Chamber of Commerce is making a valiant effort to remedy the situation, which will become acute during the racing season here this month.

But the problem confronting the week-enders and pleasure seekers is simple compared to that of the poor divorcees. They come here for six weeks and have to stick it out, whether they like it or not.

A. L. Geisenheimer & Co.

ANY TIRE manufacturer or dealer who tells you a "breaker strip" is a "ply"—or that tire performance depends on weight—deceives you.

BEWARE THE MAN WHO TELLS YOU THIS IS A PLY

It is NOT A PLY, it is a breaker strip! The National Better Business Bureau defines a "ply" as follows—

"A ply is one of a number of layers of rubberized cotton fabric, either cord or square woven, extending from bead to bead, and forming the body of the tire."

Four or six plies form the carcass or the body of the tire. If the fabric does NOT extend entirely around the tire from BEAD TO BEAD, IT IS NOT A PLY. The illustration points out the difference between a ply and a breaker strip. It also points out the "beads."

Certain manufacturers and dealers, jealous of Ward's commanding position in the tire industry, have made misleading statements about Ward's tires. They have published and displayed misleading charts—they have shown sections of obsolete tires—they compare their "second line" tires with our "first line" tires—and now in advertising and selling talks, "breaker strips" are being called "plys." These misleading statements, however, are cleverly worded and the breaker strip is called "a ply under the tread." No twisting of words, however, can turn a BREAKER STRIP into a PLY. Every tire manufacturer and dealer knows it, AND WE BELIEVE THE CUSTOMER, TOO, IS ENTITLED TO KNOW THE FACTS.

BEWARE THE MAN WHO SAYS WEIGHT DENOTES SUPERIORITY

Many readers are familiar with the recent Firestone ads which compare Firestone tires with unidentified mail order tires. Weight has been given prominence as one of the items of comparison. Montgomery Ward & Co. maintains that weight is NOT AN INDICATION OF TIRE QUALITY.

We recently purchased five Firestone Oldfield tires and five Firestone High Speed tires—the High Speed tire is more expensive than the Oldfield. These tires were carefully weighed by Dr. Ellery H. Harvey, and the results are shown in the statement at the right.

In the first place, note that there is a variation of five ounces between the heaviest and the lightest Oldfield, and that there is a six-ounce variation between the heaviest and the lightest Firestone High Speed. MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL NOTE THAT THE AVERAGE WEIGHT OF THE OLDFIELD IS ONE POUND FIVE OUNCES HEAVIER THAN THE AVERAGE WEIGHT OF THE HIGH SPEED TIRES. If weight denotes superiority, why is the cheaper Firestone tire heavier than the more expensive Firestone tire? Surely this should convince any unbiased person how ridiculous it is to consider weight an indication of tire quality. Again we say, WE BELIEVE THE CUSTOMER IS ENTITLED TO KNOW THE FACTS.

On June 20, 1931, I weighed five Firestone Oldfield tires on a tested Howe scale. Immediately after on the same scale I weighed five Firestone four ply High Speed tires. All ten tires were size 4.50-21. They weighed as follows:

Firestone Oldfield	Firestone 4-Ply High Speed
17 lbs. 11 oz.	16 lbs. 2 oz.
17 lbs. 8 oz.	16 lbs. 5 oz.
17 lbs. 9 oz.	16 lbs. 1 oz.
17 lbs. 6 oz.	16 lbs. 7 oz.
17 lbs. 7 oz.	16 lbs. 3 oz.
17 lbs. 9 oz.	16 lbs. 2 oz.
Avg. wt. per tire 17 lbs. 8 oz.	16 lbs. 3 oz.

Variation between lightest and heaviest tire 5 oz. 6 oz.

Dr. Ellery H. Harvey,

Ward's Laboratory Chief

Here Is THE TRUTH About Ward's Riversides and Trail Blazers!

The RIVERSIDE is our first quality tire. It is made by one of the largest tire companies in the world. It is built to one of the most stringent sets of specifications in the tire industry. It has been sold by Ward's for 19 years. Millions are in use today. Riversides are backed by a guarantee without limit as to time or mileage. Other famous nationally advertised tires that are equal to Riversides are much higher priced than Riversides.

The table at the right gives you the sizes for size price comparison. Having studied the price comparison with other makes, the only question for you to ask is: "Are Riverside tires really as good as these other tires with which they are compared?" Well, Montgomery Ward & Co. is one of the largest and oldest merchandise institutions in the world. It is the originator of the "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back" guarantee. It depends for its business not only on tires but also on some 40,000 other items of merchandise which it sells to you. Certainly it is reasonable to believe that Ward's is maintaining the truth in making these statements.

FREE MOUNTING SERVICE AT EVERY WARD STORE

The TRAIL BLAZER is our second quality tire. It is equal to any of the "second line" tires offered by well known tire companies. As you no doubt know, close to 90% of all newspaper advertising of the big tire companies is devoted to their "second line" tires, and it is these tires with which Trail Blazers compare. However, Trail Blazers SELL FOR LESS than other second line tires.

This combination of quality with lowest price which is offered by Ward's seems to have made some of our competitors very envious, so they are making and publishing misleading and incorrect statements about mail order tires. But they do not compare their first quality tires with our Riversides and their second quality tires with our Trail Blazers. They know to do so would immediately indicate how much lower Ward's tires are priced. So they have cunningly priced their "second line" tires at exactly our Riverside prices, and they print comparison tables which are intended to make people believe that their prices are the same as ours. Well, they are not. The chart at the left is a true comparison, quality for quality, and price for price.

OTHER SIDE OF RENO'S PICTURE NOT SO PRETTY

Biggest Little City's Not
The Dream Place So Many Imagine

By GEORGE H. BEALE,
United Press Staff Correspondent,
Reno, Nev., July 14—(UP)—The biggest little city in the world, as Reno advertises itself, really isn't the dream place you imagined.

It isn't a happy, glittering, romantic playground.

Reno's brightly-lighted gambling houses run day and night, liquor can be purchased at its bars, the clock around and divorcees come easy, but there is little spontaneous gaiety and glamour.

Reno, for all its modern downtown buildings and its vaunted Riverside hotel on the bank of the turbulent Truckee, has the general appearance of just another dusty desert town with laws more liberal than most.

Its gambling halls differ from those in any city only in that they operate legally and the play is for smaller stakes.

The bar-rooms here differ from
"speakeasies" throughout the country principally in that they operate more openly, and occasionally with poorer liquor at higher prices.

Beer sells for 75 cents a bottle in the majority of bars, gin fizzes for 75 cents and whisky for from 50 cents to one dollar a drink, depending upon the quality, if any.

Tinhorn Gamblers
There is an undercurrent of feeling in Reno that the legislature made a mistake when it decided to legalize gambling in Nevada.

The new law brought in a stream of tinhorn gamblers and operators.

People with "real money," stopped gambling and bar-room drinking except at one or two exclusive places.

Most of the gambling places are untidy. Few have their floors covered. All are filled constantly with tobacco smoke and the odor of perfume—the kind of perfume that asserts itself even in a blue fog of cigar smoke. In the summer heat these places become stifling. Most of the gambling is done with nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars.

As a pleasing relief from this type there are one or two well-conducted places such as the Willows, which is several miles west of the city. Croupiers, waiters and musicians are in evening dress here, the cuisine is excellent and the bar modern and well stocked.

Gambling Alley
Gambling houses are to be found all over town, but the main concentration is along Douglas Alley. This is a narrow thoroughfare with every door leading to a game of chance or a bar. It seems lined always with tramps, hangers-on and moochers.

Better class women appear to avoid Douglas alley, and it takes the nature of a slumming tour when they venture into it.

Then there are the places "across the tracks," where better class women never venture.

The average crowd at any given gambling and drinking place is the average crowd at any carnival. To add to this carnival impression, the publicity given Reno has brought in the medicine fakers, the weight guessers and the fortune tellers.

The women who go into these gambling, and drinking places all seem engaged in a rather futile attempt to have a good time. The laughter is shrill and forced.

One Side Not So Gay

Perhaps, after all, there's a side that isn't quite so gay and devil-may-care to this divorce business.

It may be difficult to cover the acrid end of romance with an easy laugh; one judges so, in watching the divorce colony at work enjoying itself.

Altogether the prominent persons who came here for divorces keep pretty well out of public notice, although it has been reported differ-ently.

And about the newly-divorced.
You have seen pictures of women kissing the central pillar of the Washoe county courthouse after getting six weeks' divorces, and pictures of them throwing wedding rings into the Truckee river—but it's a ten-to-one bet that you wouldn't observe either event in a week's stay in Reno.

The most bona fide excitement in Reno lately has not occurred in the gambling halls and saloons—although there was a pistol killing down there not so long ago—but out in the modern residential district where Cornelius Vanderbilt staged his "fiend" against Peter Arno.

It was all good fun, although short-lived, as was the Roman caule episode in the downtown hotel the other night. It this incident, a well-jingled celebrant, armed with a hundred Roman candles, opened the window of his room and sent his fiery projectiles through every other open window in the hotel that he could reach.

It was a hot night and pretty nearly every window was open.
Down found a score of hotel guests patching burned holes in pajamas, while the erstwhile marksman sat in Reno's jailhouse and pondered the lack of humor in the world.

There is, of course, an altogether different view in the Reno panorama the home life of the 18,000 bona fide Nevadans who work and play and live the year around in this little city at the eastern base of the high Sierras.

They are responsible for Reno's 56
tennis courts, ten swimming pools, parks, churches and cathedrals.

The University of Nevada here aligns its social life almost exclusively with this, the permanent section of Reno's otherwise evanescent population.

These people look, for the most part, with faint amusement and understanding upon the "cocktail Brannigans" and nightly whoopee in the divorce colony. For themselves however, they prefer their recreation in the form of canoeing and fishing on the nearby lakes and rivers, and in hiking or riding over the desert and mountain trails to the east and west of Reno.

DIVORCE SEEKERS THINK THE WORLD KNOWS PROBLEMS

Reno-Bound Soon Take On the Nonchalance Of Veterans Though

By MARION ARNOLD
United Press Staff Correspondent

Reno, Nev., July 14—(UP)—Perhaps the most self-conscious person in the world is the young female divorcée on her way to Reno.
There she sits in her westward bound Pullman, feeling as conspicuous as if the whole world were agape over her own personal leap for marital freedom. She is certain that at least the entire train is interested in the fact that she is going to get off at the "Biggest Little City in the World."

Becomes Nonchalant
She is uncertain whether she should appear sad or happy, so she generally assumes an expression of complete nonchalance. As she steps off the train she is actually a little bit frightened.

However, the Renosites at the station pay no more attention to her than they pay to that blonde with the Pekingese who had the stateroom; or to that girl without a hat stepping out of the day coach.
So many have been here before—and there are a lot more on their way.
In fact, the divorcee in Reno is as casual and non-committally accepted as the corner traffic cop.

Hotels are jammed, living quarters are scarce. She can be seen, the newcomer, often early in the morning before Reno has recovered from its customary hangover, waiting for a hotel room to be vacated.

Just Reno Routine
But she is brought to realize how fallacious her train of thought has been after she has been in Reno a week. For Reno routine, Reno matter-of-factness, Reno tolerance and Reno gaiety (often a strained hectic sort of gaiety) form the melting pot for Reno divorcees. No one's trouble is any more important than the next person's. Tangled lives are every day stuff here.

And so, after a week or so, divorcée begin to catch the Reno idea. To this end there are a great many aids. For the daughters of soap kings, social registerites and such headline material, there is roulette, dice, highballs and hush-low music. While just around the corner the ex-tyrant or telephone girl is helped out by slot machines, sage bush whisky, whining radios and the talk around her boarding house table.

The non-money burdened divorcee generally migrates to some boarding house, which becomes a big factor in her life here. Divorcees, one and a half, they can be seen sitting around their boarding house boards—gone Reno. The only true words spoken, perhaps are "Please pass the salt." For they quickly assume a callousness concerning their problems never dared back home. So likewise do such qualities as tolerance, broadmindedness and the popular "go-to-hell" attitude show up.

Get more miles of SAFE LUBRICATION New Iso-vis will not thin out from dilution

RESULTS of Indianapolis Speedway
Tests, Certified by A. A. A.

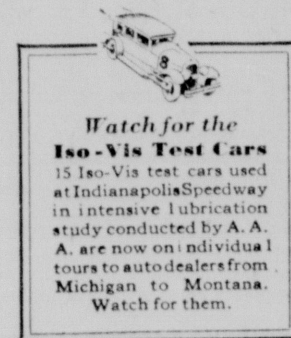

- 1 Iso-Vis Motor Oil did not thin out from dilution.
- 2 During the entire test of 9,000 miles, the engines and chassis of all cars were lubricated effectively.
- 3 Oil Added: only 63/100 of a quart—average for all cars—of Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy) in 1,000 mile test at 30 miles an hour.

These drops of oil running down a piece of glass prove again that New Iso-Vis is the only motor oil that will not thin out from dilution. The speed of the drops indicates the body of the oil.
The thinnest oil runs fastest.

We see, therefore, that the fresh New Iso-Vis and the fresh "X" oil have the same body. But, that while the "used" New Iso-Vis has practically the same body as the fresh oil, the used "X" oil has thinned out decidedly.

The tough, sturdy body of New Iso-Vis never changes. It's as heavy when you drain it as when you put it in. It gives your engine the same protection every mile you drive. You get safe lubrication right up to the time of draining.

Here's a challenge. Put in a fill of New Iso-Vis today. When you are ready to drain, go to any Standard Oil Service Station or dealer. Let him show you the Ball and Bottle Test with oil from your own car. It will convince you in 3 seconds that New Iso-Vis will not thin out from dilution.

MOSQUITO GAVE SIKORSKY IDEA FOR HIS PLANES

Clogged The Gas Line, So
He Evolved Multi-
Motored Planes

By W. W. CHAPLIN

New York, July 14 —(AP)—The largest commercial airplane in the world is nearing completion in Connecticut and it can trace its ancestry directly to a mosquito which lived and died in Russia in 1910.

In that year a young man of 27 abandoned experiments he had been conducting with a helicopter and built his first airplane. To the considerable surprise of his friends the plane flew. It flew, in fact 12 times. But on the 13th hop the engine died in midair and the plane crashed to demolition.

The young inventor crawled unharmed from the wreckage and set about discovering the reason for the engine's sudden cessation. At last working by the process of elimination, he came to the gas line. He blew through it and out came one defunct mosquito which had clogged the fuel line and thus, as it turned out, given its life for the advancement of science.

"Planes will never be safe," the inventor decided, "so long as so feeble thing as a mosquito can destroy the power plant. Evidently what must be done is to have more than one engine so that when the need arises they can be divided, one for the mosquito and one for the plane."

Thus the idea of multi-motored planes was born in the mind of Igor Sikorsky, later to become one of the world's greatest aeronautical designers.

Built 73 Bombers

Three years after he survived the encounter with the mosquito Sikorsky built 73 giant bombers with four engines each, the first such ships ever to be constructed. After the war and the revolution he came to America and opened a factory in which he employed fugitives of the old regime, many of them nobles of the Czarist court. His first plane in this country was the big ship in which Rene Fonck planned to fly the ocean.

After an accident which killed two of his crew Fonck abandoned the Atlantic flight and the plane was sold for commercial work in South America, where it is still in service. Sikorsky then turned his attention to multi-motored amphibians and this type is still his greatest interest.

The flying boat with wheel gear for landings on earth now nearing completion in the Sikorsky factory near Bridgeport is the largest plane ever built except the German DO-X and the largest intended for regular commercial service.

It is 75 feet long, has a 114 foot wing spread, is 23 feet high from the ground to the top of the cabin, with its single wing high above that and has a cabin 38 feet long accommodating 40 passengers and a crew of five. It should be ready for its first flying tests the end of this month and when all tests are completed will go into service on the Caribbean Line of Pan-American Airways.

A sister ship is already begun.

School Yields Boy's Skeleton

Discovery of the skeleton of a boy whose body had lain in the air shaft of a high school at Muncie, Ind., for years, was made by Otto Armstrong, right, a plumber, who had gone into the long-closed shaft to make repairs. Detective Harvey O. Stewart of the Muncie police department, is shown above holding the shoes worn by the boy. The body was tentatively identified as that of Perle Quelsby. Authorities believed he had either gone into the shaft for a forbidden cigarette smoke and been accidentally

Smuggled Liquor
To Prison Inmates

Peoria, Ill., July 14 —(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Herman Decker of Pontiac, arrested Saturday by Peoria prohibition agents on a charge of smuggling liquor to inmates of the Pontiac reformatory, were to be arraigned before United States Commissioner William H. Moore.

They live less than 200 feet from the prison walls. Warren Coleman, Assistant Superintendent of the institution, obtained warrants charging them with passing liquor to guards who carried it inside.

A survey of summer school students at the University of Missouri showed them to be affiliated with 22 religious denominations.

Discouraged Mother Left Pathetic Note

Chicago, Ill., July 14 —(AP)—A woman believed to be Mrs. Sarah Kolstner, 39, scribbled a pathetic note of solicitude for her two children and of love for her husband and then leaped from the ninth floor of a south side hotel to her death today.

She had registered at 7 o'clock, the hotel clerk said, as Mrs. Kolstner and her body was found an hour later. The note was addressed to her husband, Louis. It read:

"I don't want to stand in the way of your folks. Take care of the children very good. Have Harold's eye tested twice a year. He might get cold if he sits on wet ground. Have Edward's tonsils removed and he will be all right. You were always wonderful to me. I love you with all my heart—may God bless you."

Rioting Filipinos Stormed Army Club

Manila, July 12 —(AP)—At least two Americans were slightly injured today when a crowd of between 200 and 300 Filipinos overran the grounds of the Army and Navy Club and stoned Army officers and their wives in an outdoor swimming pool when club attaches sought to expel the mob.

Captain Fred Adams, 31st Infantry and Robert Davis, young son of an Army officer, were reported hurt. Police cleared the grounds of the intruders.

The incident occurred during a huge demonstration by Filipinos designed to further convince United States Senators Pitman of Nevada and Hawes of Missouri that the people of the islands are united in their plea for independence.

W. F. PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

When somebody starts to talk about making a few cents more, I usually don't stop to listen very long. But when they begin to talk about dollars I'm interested. Maybe you are, too.

A friend of mine went down to New York a couple of weeks ago to look at eggs. When he came back he told me that there were eggs down there that were being sold for three dollars a case more than the very finest eggs from the middle west were bringing.

I asked him why. "What's the difference between those eggs and our eggs from out here in the middle west?" I said.

And this is what he told me: "Eggs Shipped When Day Old. Those eggs are 'guaranteed day old' when shipped. There is a band around each case with that information on it."

"That band must look very fine around the case," I said. "But what I want to know is how the eggs looked."

"If you could have seen those eggs, you'd have believed they were 'day old' all right. I never saw more beautiful eggs. I turned them in front of the candle and they were just as clear as a china egg. You couldn't see the yolk at all. And they graded almost perfectly."

Probably you have sold your eggs on a graded basis out in the country. So you know what grading means.

But did you know that all the eggs that are shipped to New York are graded again before they are sold? They are. That's a state law. There are three grades—A, B and C. The eggs about which my friend was telling me had around 25 dozen Grade A to a 30-dozen case.

"And how many dozen Grade A did the middle western eggs have?" I asked him.

"The very finest ones I saw had only 8 to 10 dozen Grade A to a 30-dozen case. Most of them didn't have any."

"You mean they were all Grade B?" I exclaimed.

"Yes. They weren't as fresh."

Bring $3 a Case Premium. "But see here," I objected, "their hens don't lay any fresher eggs than our hens here in the middle west."

"No," he said. "But they're fresher when they get to market. Somebody called him out of my office, 'because they take better care of them and sell them oftener,' he called back."

"And they get three dollars a case more for them," I said to myself after he had left.

And then I began to wonder if maybe it wouldn't pay us to take better care of our eggs. I've been saying so for a good many years now. What do you think of it?

Farm Radio Program

Midsummer fare for thought on economics, science and conservation will be given to the radio audience in the Department of Agriculture period of the National Farm and Home Hour programs to be broadcast by 43 associated stations of the National Broadcasting Company for the week beginning Monday July 20.

For the conservation feature of the week, the Forest Service will contribute a program aimed at the prevention of fire. Ranger Bill and A. Tenderfoot Camper will talk over the provisions and the reasons of the fire regulations imposed upon campers in the National forests. The scientific and economic informational talks and interviews of the week are listed in the following programs of the department and Federal Farm Board periods:

MONDAY, JULY 20—"Farm Business and Science News of the Week" Morse Salisbury, chief of radio service; "Winning the south from the cattle tick," Dr. R. A. Ramsay, bureau of animal industry.

TUESDAY, JULY 21—"The Garden Calendar," W. R. Beattie, bureau of plant industry; "Can We Cut Farm Taxes by Consolidating local Governments?" B. W. Allin, bureau of agricultural economics.

WEDNESDAY, July 22—"The Week's Weather," Morse Salisbury, chief of radio service; "going camping?" by Ranger Bill and A. Tenderfoot Camper, forest service.

THURSDAY, JULY 23—"The Household Calendar," Mrs. Rowena Schmidt, Carpenter, Bureau of Home Economics; "The Poultry and Egg Outlook," Roy C. Potts, Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

FRIDAY, JULY 24—"The Farm Business Library" M. S. Eisenhower, director of information, department of information, federal farm board; second Farm Board speaker to be announced.

is broadcast from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

JUNE RAINFALL THROUGH STATE VERY UNEQUAL

Extreme Heat Of Last Ten Days Feature Of The Weather

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Uneven distribution of rainfall and the extreme heat of the last ten days of June were the noteworthy features of the weather of the month, Clarence J. Root, director of the Illinois section of the weather bureau, said today.

"The deaths of many persons were attributed directly or indirectly to the high temperatures," he said. "Hundreds of farm horses died. It was good corn weather where there was sufficient moisture, but there were reports of small grains being injured. A few areas were dry throughout the entire month, others needed moisture after the 10th, and still others had sufficient for all needs. Winter wheat was generally heavy and oats were rank in many areas. In places grain was blown down by the wind. The harvest was well along at the close of the month."

"The warm weather set in on the 18th and was continuous. The last seven days were especially hot, the temperature going above 100 degrees every day at many stations, and where it did not it was in the upper nineties. It was probably the hottest June week in the climatological history of Illinois. The June extreme maximum temperature record was exceeded at nearly all northern division stations, at ten in the central division, and at five in the south. Some stations exceeded the record on more than one day. The 107 degrees at Jacksonville on the 30th is the highest ever officially recorded in Illinois in June. At Springfield the last seven days ranged 12 to 17 degrees above the normal. The lowest temperature during the month was 37 degrees at Danville on the 1st.

"The rainfall was mostly local in character, resulting in some cases in totals of much variation over short distances. The extremes were 0.34 inch at Carbondale and 7.88 inches at Quincy. Amounts exceeded 6 inches at Aurora, Chicago Airport, Elgin, Joliet, Quincy, Rushville and Warsaw. The average for the state was 3.18 inches. The precipitation was above normal at only one-fourth of the station. In the south half it was generally deficient, the shortage being largely 2 to 3 inches. Individual heavy rains occurred at follows: Elgin 3.71 inches in 19 hours on the 22nd-23rd; Rushville, 3.50 inches in two hours on the 20th-21st; Quincy, 3.41 inches in the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. of the 12th. The last-named rain, caused considerable damage in Adams county to roads and bridges by washing. Creeks overflowed and levees broke, resulting in inundated crops.

White Leghorns Win In State Contests

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Massac county White Leghorns won the silver cup awarded to the owner of the pen of five hens that laid the most eggs during June at the poultry experimental plants conducted by the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

The cup-winning pen of five produced 146 eggs out of a possible 150 during the thirty days of June. They were entered in the Murphysboro unit of the state's egg laying contest, by the Illinois hatchery at Metropolis. Another pen, of the same breed, owned by the Booth Poultry farm, of Clinton, Mo., turned in the same high record.

Reports from the three units—Quincy, Kankakee and Murphysboro, compiled in the office of E. C. Horner, chief poultryman, reveal that the hens over test at Kankakee averaged a slightly better than at the other unit further south. At that plant, the birds averaged 20 eggs a piece during the month. At Murphysboro the average output for all the hens at 18.9 and at Quincy 17.3.

Breeders placing hens as good as fifth included: Illinois Hatchery Metropolis and R. C. Ruppel, Beardstown with White Leghorns; John Wolf, New Garden, by Rhode Island Reds; Wm. Zeigler, Murphysboro, and L. E. Harvey, Glen Ellyn, with White Plymouth Rocks; W. C. Does, Lockport; Herman Timm, Chebanse and P. L. Bessingham, Stamford, with Barred Plymouth Rocks.

Weekly Review of Agriculture by Farmers Paper

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—The drop from May 15 to June 15 in prices received by farmers carried the index prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture from 86 down to 80 per cent of the pre-war level, the Prairie Farmer's weekly market review said. In June, 1930, this index was 122. Since August, 1929, when the farm price index was 143, it has declined at an average rate of nearly three points a month.

"Cattle producers cut down loadings decisively at the end of June," the review said "but the prolonged heat wave drove consumers away from beef so that buyers were indifferent to the small run until weather finally turned cooler and started a rally early in July. Beef steer prices have avoided returning to the extreme low levels reached at the end of May but lower grades of she-stock and stockers and feeders are in new low ground. The average cost of thin steers at Chicago is about $2.00 below current prices for fat steers. This widening margin may cause a demand for feeders."

"The June pig survey shows an increase in the spring crop and an outlook for even greater fall increases. If the present outlook for a large corn crop is realized, a marked oversupply of hogs is probable in 12 to 18 months. Demand is likely to remain rather narrow. Hog prices have performed rather poorly in the last 10 days. Receipts were heavier and the hot weather narrowed the demand for pork. Hog prices in the next four to six weeks seem likely to be better than later on."

"Lamb prices declined persistently through June, losing over $3 during the month. Good and choice natives are now going at $7 to $7.25. Dressed lamb demand has been handicapped by hot weather. The recent improvement in general business sentiment caused mills to buy wool more actively to anticipate some of the future requirements. The National Wool Marketing Association reports the sale of about 5,000,000 pounds in the last three weeks."

"Wheat prices turned weak again around the first of July, new crop futures dropping back close to the lowest level of the year. The domestic promises to be about 880 million bushels compared with 851 million bushels in 1930, so that a burdensome is likely. In spite of low prices, receipts of wheat are relatively heavy for this season of the year. Prices in southwestern markets are substantially above an export parity. Prices later on may receive some help from improvement in world business conditions."

"Producers took advantage of an upturn in prices to sell corn and feed grains late in June. The influence of the dry, hot weather, received a severe setback when rains halted the upturn. Trade reports on the corn crop indicate a yield of 3,006,000,000 bushels which is 925,000,000 bushels more than in 1930. "Weather conditions were responsible for light receipts of eggs late in June but likewise reduced consumption and curtailed demand. Prices remain low. Speculative buying in markets for future delivery broadened as a result of more optimistic attitude in general business circles and the rise in security prices."

"Butter prices rallied sharply late in June largely because of improved general business. Hot weather tended to cut down milk production and also stimulated the demand for practically all dairy products."

FLOWERS AND EDIBLES PAY WELL ON ONE-ACRE FARM. Easton, Cal.—(AP)—Harvey Dewes finds that his one-acre farm is more satisfactory than a larger one. The returns are gratifying. He has under cultivation many varieties of flowers, including sweet peas, carnation, cosmos, stocks, marigolds, snapdragons, g'adollas, zinnias, larkspur, raggy robin and chrysanthemums.

Dewes doesn't depend on the flowers entirely, as he has lima beans, Kentucky wonder beans, stone and tree tomatoes, sweet corn and several rows of blackberries on his miniature farm. He has solved the water problem by the use of a small irrigation system.

TEXANS' WHEAT RANCH OCCUPIES OVER 2,000 ACRES

Former New York Executive Turns Successful Farmer

Tulla, Texas, July 14 —(UP)—Hickman Price, who quit a $50,000 a year executive job in New York to come west and be a wheat farmer, has made his farm near here an industry, covering 23,000 acres of land in three counties.

"Texas now boasts of Price as the world's largest individual wheat farmer. Whether it is or not, the Price farm is a revelation to tourists who pass the gate as well as to other farmers in the neighborhood who said 'it could not be done.'"

During the next month Price will devote much of his time to the harvest of a 500,000 bushel wheat crop. The harvest already has begun.

24 Hours a Day on Job. Twenty-five combines and eight windrowing machines are running almost 24 hours a day. One hundred trucks are used to transport the wheat to Kress, Tex., where it is loaded through Price's own equipment.

Five messenger riders travel over the big ranch carrying orders and reports for Price, who keeps in touch with the minute details of the big ranch.

Fifty tractors haul combines and windrowers and the plows which turn over the stubble almost as fast as the grain is cut.

Repairs On Ranch. Five men are kept employed oiling and greasing the tractors and combines, three others inspect the combines, tractors and the loading equipment.

Eight factory trained men are in charge of repairs of farm equipment and travel over the ranch in two trucks with spare parts.

Price does not fear competition from Russia in wheat production. His son, Hickman Price, Jr., is in Russia at this time studying the wheat growing methods there.

State Fair Dairy Show To Be Great

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Teis P. Smith of Danville, member of the Illinois State Fair Advisory Board, in charge of the dairy cattle and dairy products department of the fair, today forecast an exceptionally attractive dairy show.

He said dairy cattle breed associations in all sections of the state and nation are commending fair officials on their selection of cattle judges for this year's fair. Smith reported that keener interest in the show this year is apparent in advance stall reservations and requests for entry blanks and the revised premium list which is to be issued soon.

At two state breed organizations summer sessions, owner and breeders of the state's leading dairy pledged an increase in entries.

This tendency, on the part of cattle breeders, to exhibit more cattle this year, the board member said, is due in part to the fact that the fair management has obtained judges who are highly satisfactorily to the dairy breeders of the country.

Prof. W. W. Yapp of the University of Illinois, is to judge the Holstein rings.

Prof. Fordyce Ely, of Lexington, Ky., has been retained to place the ribbons in the Jersey and Guernsey classes.

Brown Swiss and Ayrshire cattle will be judged by Robert E. Haeger of Algonquin.

J. N. "Jerry" Spencer, extension representative of the Sugar Creek Creamery Co. of Danville, and for many years a leader in the operation of dairy calf clubs, shows throughout Illinois is to superintend the dairy show.

SECOND JARDINE IN DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Brother Of the Former Secretary To Join Its Forces Sept. 1

Washington—(AP)—There's to be another Jardine in the United States Department of Agriculture.

He is James T. Jardine, a brother of William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture under President Coolidge and now minister to Egypt.

The newcomer will take office September 1 as head of experiment stations in the department and assistant director of scientific work.

Jardine's duties will be to correlate research at state and insular experiment stations, of which there are 53 carrying on about 9,500 projects. As assistant director of scientific research work he will help correlate the research projects in the department itself.

He is 50 years old, was born at Cherry Creek, Idaho, and was graduated from the Utah Agricultural college. After teaching English in that college for several years, he entered the forest service to become successively special agent, forest supervisor and inspector of grazing.

He has been director of the Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station since 1920. During that time he studied the agricultural situation in Alaska for the government and also undertook a survey of land grant colleges and universities.

SIX YEARS OF STRIVING MAKES POOR SOIL FERTILE. Kountze, Tex.—(AP)—A. J. Jones wanted a farm, but all he had was a big patch of old piney woods on an upland. He cleared it off, plowed and planted corn.

Still, he didn't have a farm. One hundred pounds of fertilizer to the acre wouldn't grow more than 15 bushels of corn. That was seven years ago.

Last year, despite a bad drought, the same land yielded 35 bushels to the acre. Jones had mapped out a program for soil improvement and stuck to it consistently for six years.

ANNUAL PRIZE PLANNED FOR AID TO FARMER

Agricultural Engineers to Award the McCormick Medal Each Year

St. Joseph, Mich.—(UP)—An annual award of a gold medal for "exceptional and meritorious service in the interest of agriculture" has been announced by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

The award, to be known as the "Cyrus Hall McCormick Medal," is based on an endowment fund provided by Cyrus Hall McCormick, Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, children of ventor of the reaper.

Established during the centenary year of the invention which revolutionized farm production and lightened immeasurably the farmer's labor the award will be presented annually in recognition of some outstanding meritorious scientific accomplishment in engineering as applied to agriculture.

Workers in all phases of agricultural engineering such as farm power and machinery, farm structures, rural electrification, land utilization and reclamation, drainage and irrigation, will be eligible.

The medal, designed by Fred M. Torrey, Chicago sculptor, shows on one side the figure of a man in an attitude of thought. On the reverse are depicted various stages in the development of labor saving devices which have removed the burden of hand drudgery from the shoulders of the modern farmer.

The winner will be selected each year by a jury composed of outstanding members of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. The first award probably will be made at the 26th annual meeting of the society in June, 1932.

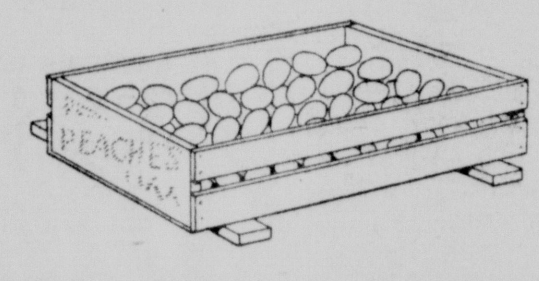

Those with a tendency to take play production too lightly must be cautioned that few entertainments can be quite so terribly as bad amateur dramatics, nor can anything be quite so delightful as an amateur play produced even with the simplest skill, the author points out.

AUTO CENSUS SHOWS SLUMP. Phoenix, Ariz.—(UP)—There are less automobiles in Arizona than were here a year ago, records of license bureaus show. The total number of cars bearing Arizona license plates is 99,473, which is 5,000 less than were registered on July 1, 1930.

Farm Folks Take To Acting Urge. Urbana, Ill.—The farm folks in Illinois are "falling" for the universal urge of acting, says D. E. Lindstrom, assistant in rural sociology at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. In a new circular which he has just written on the subject, "Dramatics for Farm Folks," he reports that plays, particularly one-act ones, are coming to form an important part of many country community programs. The

COOL your eggs

before you put them in the case

Eggs, like milk, should be cooled as quickly as possible.

And they don't have any chance to cool off if you put them right into an egg case.

Suppose you take an egg that has a temperature of 100. (Maybe you think we're exaggerating, but we have actually put thermometers in eggs that have just been gathered and have seen the mercury go up that high.)

Drop an egg that hot down into a filler and put a heavy cardboard flat on top of it.

IT'S just like putting it into a fireless cooker—or into an incubator, if it's a fertile egg.

The cool air doesn't have a chance to get to it. That's why you should cool the eggs before you put them in the case. Take them down cellar as soon as you have gathered them and spread them out in a peach crate or a shallow box of some kind so that the air can reach them.

LEAVE them that way over night. Then the heat will have had a chance to escape and you can put them in the case the next morning.

It's a good idea to set the box and case both up off the floor so that the air can circulate around them.

Go into our cooler sometime and look at the cases of eggs that are stacked up there—with strips of lath between them so that the air can reach each case.

Such little things may seem unimportant, but they make the difference between ordinary eggs, for which you get an ordinary price—and Henneries for which we pay a premium.

Baseball Gossip

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

To a bit of strategy that worked on Walter Johnson attribute, in part at least, the failure of his Washington Senators to out into the six game margin the Philadelphia Athletics enjoy in the American League race.

The Senators gained an even break in a double bill with the A's yesterday but might have won both games had Johnson not resorted to the successful "master-minding" that eventually led to Washington's downfall in the opener.

Although the score was tied at 5-5 at the end of the first seven innings, Fred Marberry had outpitched the A's southpaw ace, Bob Grebe, by a wide margin. In the eighth, with two on, however, Johnson pulled Marberry out of the lineup to allow Hargrave to bat for him. Hargrave made this strategy look good with a single that drove in one run. Another flittered across before the inning was over to give the Senators a two-run lead.

But the A's who had made only seven hits off Marberry, fell on his successors, Tumps Hadley and Bob Burke, for seven runs on Fox's triple, a wild pitch, three passes, Dibrrell Williams' home run with the bases filled, Cochrane's double and Simmons' homer. George Earnshaw pitched the last inning and held the Senators in check to make the final score 12-7.

Alvin Crowder kept ten hits well scattered in the second game to win 6-4, home runs by Dave Harris and Joe Kuhel accounting for five of the Senators' runs.

This double header completed the American League schedule for the day while in the National the St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Chicago Cubs, 12-5, to stretch their lead to four and one-half games over the idle New York Giants. With the score tied at 2-2 after three and one-half innings, the Cardinals shelled Pat Malone and Lester Sweetland for seven runs in the fourth and added three more in the fifth. Burleigh Grimes gave the Cubs nine hits while the Cardinals collected 19. Jake Flowers, utility infielder, clouted two doubles and a triple to drive in four Cardinal runs and score two himself.

In the only other game of the day, Jim Elliott of the Phillies blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates with five hits, 1-0.

Remy Kremer also allowed only five hits but two of them were bunched in the ninth for the only run of the contest. Chuck Klein beat out an infield smash and scored on Don Hurst's double.

Do You Remember

One Year Ago Today—Charles Fischer, sensational southpaw pitcher of Newark in the International League, came to the Washington Senators for Pitcher Miles Thomas and cash said to be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

Five Years Ago Today—After six months of tennis warfare in England and continental countries, Helen Wills, U. S. women's tennis champion, returned home to find herself more popular than ever because of her excellent showings against the peerless Suzanne Lenglen, French ace.

Ten Years Ago Today—Chicago's colored population turned out by the thousands to welcome Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion, released from the government penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

SPORT BRIEFS

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Midget Wolgast, speedy Philadelphia, who is reconfirmed in some states as flyweight champion, clearly has demonstrated his right to the crown so far as Ruby (Dark Cloud) Bradley of Holyoke, Mass., is concerned.

Wolgast punched out an easy 15-round decision over the New England Negro in a 15-round title bout at the Coney Island Stadium last night in the first championship battle there since Jim Jeffries and Jim Corbett clashed for the heavyweight title 30 years ago.

Chicago, July 14.—(UP)—He'len Wills Moody, on her way east to play in the women's national tennis championships at Forest Hills in August, said she wasn't annoyed by what the public thought about her. She stopped off yesterday and viewed a group of mural decorations.

"I don't care much what people say about me," she said. "Championships are public property and the public is always right."

Her young San Francisco husband did not accompany her.

"He doesn't like to watch tennis," she said. "He had rather stay at home and sail a boat."

Mrs. Moody will attempt to regain the national title won last year by Mrs. L. A. Harper, California southpaw, when Mrs. Moody did not compete.

Toronto, Ont., July 14.—(UP)—George Godfrey, Pennsylvania Negro, is a bigger drawing card than Primo Carnera, a box office checkup today revealed after the 268-pound veteran of a prize ring had given the fans their money's worth by fighting and wrestling on the same program.

Carnera does little more than make a speech and shake hands with himself.

Godfrey last night knocked out George Gennas of Philadelphia in one minute and 35 seconds after the bell for the second round.

A few minutes later, in the same squared ring, the big Negro took on Stanley Stasiak, the big Pole from Buffalo, and was thrown by the rough house grappler in 11 minutes 43 seconds.

Seven thousand persons witnessed the program.

Los Angeles, July 14.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri smashed his way to a decision over Cecil Payne, the Louisville, Ky., looper to hold safe his junior welterweight championship of the world here last night before 20,000 persons.

Crossing a terrific right to the jaw, the swarthy Italian from New York floored Payne a short minute after the first round opened, but he seemed to tire at the finish of the bout, as the Kentucky challenger crashed over swinging lefts and rights at long range.

At the most, the bout progressed at a tame pace, with the crowd calling for action during the closing rounds. The Associated Press gave Canzoneri six rounds and Payne three.

Chicago, July 14.—(AP)—Twenty Grand will go to the post a favorite in the $70,000 Arlington Classic Saturday, but A. C. Boswick thinks his three-year-old star, Mate, will give the big bay all kinds of trouble if not a beating.

Mate, conqueror of the Whitney crack in the Preakness and winner of the $50,000 American Derby, reached Arlington Park yesterday and his trainer, Jim Healy, said he had trained perfectly for the world's richest three-year-old event, and would be a good bet for another victory over Twenty Grand.

"Mate doesn't like his races too often," Healy said, "and I think that was the reason why he didn't do better in the Kentucky Derby."

Berlin, July 14.—(AP)—Max Schmeling is back home again, this time fully recognized by German boxing experts as the legitimate heavyweight champion of the world, and a "credit to the Fatherland."

"Der Maxie" arriving in Berlin by air from Bremen yesterday, found an enthusiastic crowd of 8,000 waiting to cheer the champion who proved his right to the crown by whipping "Young" Stribling so easily in Cleveland ten days ago.

Speeches by leading sport authorities paid tribute to Max as a "shining example of German sportsmanship" and a "master of all categories."

Schmeling, perhaps remembering the somewhat cold reception that awaited him on his arrival home after winning on a foul from Jack Sharkey, replied:

"I'm glad to be back home again and I'm glad to have had a chance to prove myself a genuine champion."

FATE OF CHICAGO CUBS DEPENDS ON CURRENT SERIES

What Will They Do In the Games Against East- ern Outfits

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
Chicago, July 14.—(UP)—The fate of the Chicago Cubs in the National League pennant race seems to hinge around what they do against the strong eastern clubs in the inter-sectional series opening today at Wrigley Field.

Back in fourth place, seven games behind the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, the Cubs are not out of the scramble, but they have failed to show any of the tendencies of a pennant contender in games against their leading rivals.

Manager Rogers Hornsby has been unable to build up a smooth working combination, and even at this late date is still shifting his players around in an effort to find a lineup that will not wilt before the other contenders.

Of the 43 games won by the Cubs, thirty of them were from the second division clubs.

The biggest advantage in the Cubs' favor is that they have 44 out of their remaining 72 games at home, and that they have only one more eastern trip ahead of them.

During their present home stay the Cubs will play four games each against New York, Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia in that order. The Cubs must win a majority of these games or their pennant chances will suffer a severe blow.

Pitching Pathetic

The present Cubs' team has none of the appearances of a championship outfit. The pitching staff has been pathetic with Hornsby forced to use 12 pitchers in the last three games against the Cards.

Hornsby himself has been having trouble with his legs and has shifted to third base, and placed young Bill Jurgas at second. Jurgas has proved a great defensive player in his first season in the majors, but his batting average of .209 has been a source of much misery to Hornsby.

The Cubs' outfield has never clicked properly because of Hack Wilson's disappointing work. Hornsby has shifted Wilson to left field and placed Danny Taylor in center, hoping that the shift would improve Hack's batting. Vince Barton has been recalled from Los Angeles and may replace Wilson in left field unless the pudgy outfielder shakes his slump. Wilson is batting .270 in comparison to .347 a year ago.

The best work in the Cubs' ranks has been done by Charley Grimm, veteran first baseman who is batting about 30 points higher than last year, Kiki Cuyler in right field and Woody English, shortstop. Ralston Hemslay has played well since he was acquired from Pittsburgh and has been dividing the catching with Gabby Hartnett.

CLERKS BEATEN TWICE BY TAXI PLAYERS MONDAY

A Hastily Assembled Outfit Couldn't Solve Jack Wilson

A hurriedly assembled team composed of clerks in down town places of business last evening failed to solve the mystery of Jack Wilson's delivery at the north side athletic field before a good sized crowd of spectators with the result that a double beating was administered to the retail salesmen. Wilson, with his Yellow Cab warriors smashed through the clerks in the first game, a nine inning affair which culminated in a 11 to 3 victory for the Cab team.

Without previous notice, the clerks announced that a double header was to be played and the Cab team consented. A five inning contest ran along, the clerks taking a four run lead in the first inning, which was later tied by the Cubs in the third and four more runs came across the plate in the fourth, the final count being 8 to 5. The Clerks have issued a challenge for another game later in the week and Manager Wilson has also accepted a challenge to meet a team from the Reynolds Wire Company plant, the date to be announced later.

Richwine's long running catches in left field, Sennett's bewildering fielding at third, for the Cabs, Byers' fine work in center field and Frey's performance at first for the Clerks, were outstanding features of the game. The result by innings was as follows:

First game:
Yellow Cab 3 2 1 0 0 2 2—11
Merchants 2 0 0 0 0 0 1—3

Batteries, Wilson and Glassburn, Miller and Pitney.

Second Game:
Merchants 3 1 0 0 1—5
Yellow Cabs 0 0 4 4 0—8

Batteries Wilson and Glassburn, Miller, Pontius and Pitney.

The teams presented the following lineups:

Yellow Cabs—Glassburn, c; Wilson p; Fane, lb; G. Richards, 2b; Has-selberg, 3b; Sennett, 3b; Richwine, lf; Stitzel, cf; Nicolosi, rf; Rink ss.

Merchants—Pitney, c; Miller, p; Frey lb; Pontius 2b; Hargrave, 3b;

Kimm, ss; Haley, ss; Phelps, lf; Byer, cf; Gerdes, rf.
Umpires—R. Covert; J. Penny.

YOUNG SLUGGER GETS NEW YORK DEBUT THIS EVE

Fight Fans To Watch Duluth Dynamiter With Interest

BY DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 14.—(UP)—Charley Retzlaff, a 195-pound slugger who is storming through heavy-weight ranks in a manner reminiscent of Jack Dempsey's climb to fame, will make his metropolitan debut tonight in a 10-round bout with Ralph Piccuello of Brooklyn, at Queensboro Stadium.

The 23-year-old "Duluth Dynamiter" has blasted his way past 32 opponents during his brief professional career, knocking out 28 foes and suffering no defeats. Max Schmeling picks Retzlaff as the next world's champion, and many shrewd betting men concur in this estimate.

Piccuello, a former national amateur champion, is a stiff puncher and once was regarded as a promising "comer." He will need all of his punching ability against Retzlaff and in addition will need an ability to withstand punishment, which he has not shown in previous matters.

Retzlaff is the best natural puncher since Dempsey and gives promise of filling the shoes which have proved too large for Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Max Schmeling and the other fighters who have enjoyed top ranking since Dempsey passed his prime.

Retzlaff a Novice

Retzlaff still is a comparative novice, although he has been boxing for five years. During the first three years he was kept under cover by a manager, canny Jack Hurley, and trained and boxed in private.

Z brief amateur career, featured by winning of the golden gloves championship followed, and Retzlaff began his professional career a year ago. He clicked from the start and boasts knockouts over Tom Heenev, Jack Gagnon, Marty Gallagher and George Neron in addition to a clean out victory over Johnny Risko.

Retzlaff's punching ability has made him highly popular with the fans and forecasts a return of the sensational slugger bouts which have been missing since the puncher Dempsey was succeeded by boxers.

With heavyweights boxing in such low estate that the aged and long inactive Jack Sharkey, the middleweight Walker and the freakish Carnera, command ranking as leading contenders for the title. The field is wide open for a sensational young slugger and Retzlaff has a great chance to blast his way to the championship. If he shows his true worth against Piccuello he is certain to get plenty of work in New York and might easily battle his way into a title bout within another year.

Helpful Signs For Silver Situation

London.—(UP)—A marked improvement of conditions in the silver industry in the autumn of 1931 is forecast by financial experts.

Two helpful signs have been noted. They are: A falling off of production in the first quarter of 1931 by 11,000,000 ounces as against 1930. Continental sales of demonetized silver are virtually completed.

In addition, the hope is advanced that the end of the economic depression will be in sight within a few months, thus providing the industry a fresh tonic.

The production slump was especially cheering to those who have watched prices drop steadily for two years until 11 15-16 pence an ounce, the lowest in history. It was estimated that if the present voluntary restriction in production is maintained a total of 40,000,000 more ounces of silver will remain underground in 1931 than in 1930.

Brokers said, despite the fall in silver prices, there had been few speculators in the market. The range in prices was so small, one explained that it made speculation impracticable.

LOADS NINE CARS

ON BIRTHDAY

Nelsonville, Ohio.—(UP)—William Robinson, resident here, celebrated his 74th birthday by loading nine cars of coal at the Lick Run Mine. Cars at the mine have an average capacity of approximately two tons.

NEW MOTOR TRUCK LAW'S PROVISIONS TO BE ENFORCED

Long, Cumbersome Semi-trailer Combinations
Tabooed At Once

Springfield, Ill., July 14 —(UP)—Rigid enforcement of a new law relating to commercial use of state highways by motor trucks and buses will begin in a few days, according to an announcement by Walter L. Moody, Chief of State Highway Police, here today. The announcement warns bus and truck line companies that the law, which became effective a few days ago when Governor L. I. Emmerson signed it, will be fully enforced.

According to Representative W. C. Chynoweth, Republican, Decatur, the law was enacted in the interests of economy and safety, in that it places limitations on huge buses and trucks as regards weight, height, length and width. Chynoweth, who piloted the law through the House, urged its passage to save the highways "from road hogs" which, he said, endangered the private motorists and were hard on the pavements.

"There will be a few days leeway for the motorists to enable them to acquaint themselves with the new provisions of the law," Moody said. "After that, we intend to arrest all violators."

The principle feature of the new law is that it immediately rules off the state highways the long and cumbersome tractor and semi-trailer combinations now being used to transport automobiles from factories to agencies by fixing the maximum length of these so-called single unit automobile hauling vehicles at 35 feet.

The law also fixed the gross weight of four wheel trucks, with a maximum load, at 24,000 pounds; six or more wheel vehicles, a tractor and semi-trailer with six or more wheels at 40,000 pounds. To further reduce highway hazards, the width of all trucks and buses has been limited to eight feet.

Other important parts of the law will not become effective until later.

Among these are provisions reducing the length of any truck and trailer combination from 65 to 40 feet; requiring braking equipment on every semi-trailer or trailer of four wheels or more, weighing 4,000 pounds; and the requiring of excess of ten miles per hour to be equipped with pneumatic tires. These provisions are effective January 1, 1933.

New lighting rules will go into effect October for large trucks operated with trailers, making mandatory the adherence to a definite system of lights so that these vehicles may be identified at night readily, and at a distance.

The license fees have also been revised, so that trucks and buses will pay a fee in proportion to their size, but these new rates will not become effective until January 1, 1932.

ROCHELLE

ROCHELLE—Mrs. Edith M. Wedler of Rochelle announces the engagement of her daughter, Irma Edith to Francis Edward Albee of Detroit, Mich. The wedding will take place August 8. The announcement was made at an informal bridge party given Friday afternoon by the bride-elect's mother and her sister, Miss Grace Wedler. Miss Wedler is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music as well as of Rockford College. She is a member of Delta Omicron, national musical sorority.

George Bump of Lindenwood, confessed burglar who was sentenced to serve one to ten years at the Illinois state reformatory at Pontiac by Judge William J. Emerson last Wednesday, was taken to Pontiac, Saturday by Sheriff Frank B. Murray. Ralph Buker, confessed murderer, was taken to Joliet Thursday by Sheriff Murray and James Doner, convicted bootlegger was taken to Vandalia to begin a 90-day sentence, Saturday.

The will of the late Mrs. Margery Berve of Rochelle who passed away September 11, 1928, was admitted to probate in Oregon Friday by County Judge Leon A. Zick. A petition for probate of the will has been on file at the county clerk's office during the past two years and the will was not probated until Friday. According to the petition the estate consists of real estate valued at about $2,000 and personal property estimated to be worth about $500. The entire estate was given outright to her surviving husband, Ben L. Berve of Rochelle. Charles Unger Berve, her only child, was named as the successive heir.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Caspers celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary Sunday at the Austin family reunion which was held in Sycamore. Mr. and Mrs. Caspers have celebrated their wedding anniversaries for over 25 years at the family reunion of Mrs. Caspers' relatives which has been held in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harms announce the marriage of their daughter, Evelyn, to Ralph Walker, the event occurring Saturday.

Mrs. Ben Coppernoll of Rockford, a sister of Mr. and Walker entertained at a shower and bridge party which was given at the home of her mother, Mrs. William Bouchard, here Thursday evening in honor of Miss Evelyn Harms. Sixteen guests were entertained at the pre-nuptial shower. A pink and white color scheme was carried out with flowers at the home. A treasure hunt was staged to find the many gifts and a drawing contest and bridge were other di-

Millionaire "Kidnaps" Own Son

A legal battle in which officials of two nations may participate is expected to result from plans of Fort Worth, Texas, officials, to return Luther C. Turner, wealthy oil operator, from Monterey, Mexico, on an indictment charging he kidnapped his own children. Mr. and Mrs. Turner, who were recently divorced and divided a million-dollar estate, each were awarded custody of the children for a part of the time, but Turner fled with them to Mexico where he has big oil interests. Shown here are the children, Luther, Jr., 8, and Tommy, 6, and their father.

versions of the evening. Miss Iola Hamaker and Miss Evelyn Harms were the winners at the bridge game. Miss Martha Wiley won first prize for drawing the picture of a bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Taylor left Saturday morning for the Rutherford camp at Lake Vermillion, Minn., where they will spend a two weeks vacation with friends. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Chalan of Chicago are accompanying them. Their son, Clarence Taylor, who is now at St. Paul plans to join them later at the lake and will return with them to Rochelle. Bruce Haselton has gone to Sterling, Colorado, for a four month's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. James Connour of Rochelle spent Thursday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Trostle at Franklin Grove.

A car load of oil has arrived for use in oiling the streets throughout the city. Commissioner T. L. Schade is supervising the oiling which started Monday.

Meetings of the American Legion Auxiliary have been discontinued for the summer to be resumed in the fall. The ladies are planning a picnic now which may take place during the month of August, probably at the Memorial Park here, and to be given jointly by the Auxiliary and Legion members. At the last meeting of the Auxiliary the following officers were elected: Mrs. William Johnson, president; Mrs. John P. Manning, first vice-president; Mrs. Walter Klewin, second vice-president; Mrs. Earl Stauffer, secretary; and Mrs. Fred Harris, treasurer, with Mrs. Ed Jackson, chaplain and Mrs. Mary Olson Sergeant-at-Arms. The new officers will not be installed until the fall meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fogle are entertaining Mrs. Fogle's sister, Mrs. Robert Reed and son of Cleveland, Ohio. Bernard Grace was arrested on the charges of disorderly conduct, and Friday morning at a hearing before Police Magistrate Harold A. Neff was fined $10 and costs.

Mrs. Augustus Caspers has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Stahmer at Delavan Lake, Wisconsin.

The average cost of pupil transportation in North Carolina is $11.67 as compared to the national average of $23.02.

30 tubs of water for one washing!

"No wonder our clothes are so clean!"
said Mrs. S...

YOUR laundress probably thinks she is unusually sanitary if she changes the water four times. But here at our laundry we use over six hundred gallons of rainsoft water to every washing. We provide a separate washing formula for every type of fabric and every grade of color, with the proper temperatures, soaps and baths to conserve the fabrics.

That, as we explained to Mrs. S..., is one reason why clothes washed our way are cleaner and last longer.

Boom Started in 1875
"Fifty years before the Captain John Smith-Pocahontas episode at Jamestown, Virginia, a Portuguese sailor founded Sao Paulo and married the daughter of a native Indian chief. Later Jesuit missionaries established a church at the settlement and held the first religious service on the feast day in celebration of the conversion of St. Paul. Hence the name of the city, Sao Paulo, which means St. Paul."

"For three centuries Sao Paulo enjoyed isolation, unfettered by colonial laws of Portugal. It was about 1,000 miles from the Portuguese government officials who were, at that time, at Bahia. In 1875 the ball of commercial progress started rolling among the inhabitants and newcomers were instilled with a boom spirit. In slightly more than 50 years the city has increased in population from 26,000 to more than half a million. New streets that were built were made broad and straight and flanked with modern buildings."

City that Coffee Built
"The railway depot, municipal and state government buildings, museums, libraries, schools, and some of its new business buildings would be flattering additions to many cities of the world of the same size. Three huge public gardens and more than 50 parks breaks the monotony of the miles of streets."

"Sao Paulo might properly be called the city that coffee built. Many of the palatial residences are those of coffee barons." In Sao Paulo streets, huge trucks, heavy carts, and perspiring men laden with sacks of coffee arways within easy reach. Coffee was not introduced into Brazil until two centuries ago, but the price of coffee now largely governs the rise and fall of Sao Paulo's prosperity.

While Ethiopia is the original home of coffee, Sao Paulo State has adopted the greater portion of the descendants of the original coffee berries. If all the coffee plantations in the state were in one plantation, it would cover an area as large as Delaware and Rhode Island, combined. In a single year more than one and a quarter-million pounds of coffee are produced in the state. There are more than seven coffee trees for every man, woman and child in the state.

3,500 Miles of Railroads
"More than 3,500 miles of railroads now use Sao Paulo as a hub. The railroad from Sao Paulo to Santos, the city's port on the Atlantic, is one of the world's most profitable steel highways, although its upkeep per mile is staggering. In the 87 miles of sinuous tracks between the two cities, trains must climb from sea level at Santos to nearly 3,000 feet at Sao Paulo. In one seven-mile section the line rises more than 2,000 feet. Sixteen viaducts and 15 tunnels were necessary in building it while steep grades and heavy rainfall required an elaborate drainage system of brick and concrete."

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON W. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

William Southern, Jr., publisher of the Independence (Mo.) Examiner, says:

"Did you ever stop to think that advertising is the telling of prospective customers that you have something for sale at an attractive price?"

"There are various simple methods by which you may carry this information to those whom you desire to reach. One is by going out yourself and visiting each prospective customer. This is the most expensive, even if it is the most effective in individual cases. Many object to house to house solicitation. It often offends and drives away customers."

ABE MARTIN

If you want t' fall down, try t' say some-thin' cute an' funny on a picture postal card. Some folks seem t' have descended from chimpanzee much lat-er'n others.

Another method is to write a letter to the person you desire to reach. Each letter costs at least seven cents, and to send a letter to twenty thousand persons would be a very expensive proposition. "The method of advertising which is the most effective for the least cost is, of course, the newspaper, and that is why newspapers are published. The newspaper is possible only when a sufficient number of those whom it desires to serve make use of the opportunities offered.

"The newspaper takes the risk and provides a medium of contact between the merchant and the consumer. The man with something to sell may reach the subscribers of the newspaper with the advertising at a very low cost many times lower than the cost of a personal visit to each buyer and many times less than a personal letter. The messages of those who have things to sell are grouped together in the paper, and the reader may select intelligently from what may be offered. "Success in business simply means intelligence and ingenuity enough to take advantage of the opportunities which offer. One might have the best stock of goods or the best automobile or the best flying machine or the best milk at the lowest price, but if nobody knew about it the most prosperous business would not continue to succeed. Here's where the newspaper comes in.

"Now is the time to advertise!"
